AMERICANS BATTLING INSIDE ST. LO

Nabbed In Fight For St. Lo

Hands on their heads, a group of German parachute troopers, captured in the bitter fighting in the St. Lo sector of France, are marched along a road by their American captors. At right is a wrecked German vehicle. Today the Yanks were closing in on St. Lo, an important road junction, after freeing 11 towns and villages in 24 hours of hard fighting.

Yanks Battling Inside St. Lo

By WES GALLAGHER

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, July 17 (AP)—British tanks and infantry stormed into the village of Noyers today and engaged in hand-to-hand fighting in the streets as Lt. Gen. Miles C. Dempsey's British Second Army attacked on a nine-mile front southwest of Caen.

Caught off balance by the British thrust, which began Saturday night, Marshal Rommel threw five divisions into the battle.

To the west, American troops attacked St. Lo for the seventh straight day, groping through the mists in a siege operation which field dispatches said was grinding down diminishing German resistanle.

Lessay, German western anchor across the Cherbourg peninsula, apparently was the Americans' for the taking any time they choose.

In the center, Bradley's warriors pointed a deadly spearhead at the road between Periers and St. Lo, capturing Remilly-sur-Lozon

The British Second Army pointed its thrust west and south from its sector southwest of Caen in a drive to iron out the wedge between Noyers and Allied-held Caumont. A maximum gain of nearly 2½ miles had been made.

Dispatches from the front said action flamed all the way from the fork of the Odon and Orne rivers at the southwest edge of Caen, where the British were still holding a bloody triangle, to Noyers.

LONDON July 17 (INS)—A Reuters' dispatch from Normandy this afternoon reported American troops have reached the outskirts of St. Lo.

RUSSIA—Four Russian armies, their drives directed (outline arrows) at Riga, Memel, Konigsberg and Warsaw, continued their giant offensive today . . . and were threatening the Nazi strongholds of Kaunas, Bailystok and Brest Litovsk. Red commanders are identified in boxes.

Red Big Guns Shell Kaunas

By NATALIA RENE

MOSCOW, July 17 (INS)—Russian armies, sweeping irresistibly toward East Prussia, held the vital rail junction city of Grodno, northern anchor of the Germans' Polish defense line, firmly in their grasp today and were only 11 miles from the Lithuanian capital of Kaunas.

Advancing along the whole 550-mile battlefront stretching from east of Latvia to the Pripyat marshes, Soviet troops rolled over another 350-odd towns and villages, killed at least 3200 Nazis and captured at least 1700 more.

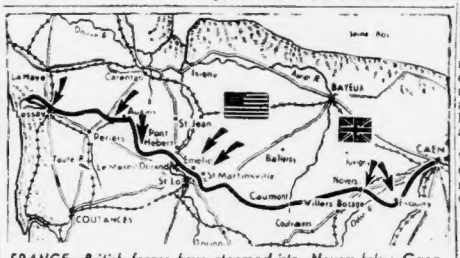
Troops of the Second and Third White Russian armies stormed into Grodno after crossing the Niemen river and won possession of the city after a three-day battle.

Grodno, 20 miles from the German-designated border of East Prussia, is 45 miles from the frontier as it existed before the Nazis conquered Poland in 1939. It served as the northern anchor of the defense line running southwest through Bialystok and Brest-Litovsk.

Capture of the city was announced by Marshal Stalin in one of his orders of the day in which he called for the firing of a 20-salvo salute from Moscow's 224 big guns.

BULLETIN

LONDON, July 17 (INS)—A Reuter's dispatch from Moscow said today that Soviet heavy guns were pouring shells into Kaunas, capital of Lithuania.



FRANCE—British forces have stormed into Noyers below Caen, while to the west Yank troops have opened the seventh straight day of attack on St. Lo. Other American forces are reported striking hard at the road between Periers and St. Lo.

Japs Fire Navy Head in Crisis

By Associated Press

Adm. Shigetaro Shimada has been relieved of his post as Japan's navy minister, Tokyo announced today, giving a hint of the stresses at play in the Japanese government since American conquest of Saipan.

Shimada, navy minister since November, 1941—a month before Pearl Harbor—gave way to relatively unknown Adm. Naokuni Nomura, who comes into a Tojo cabinet facing an unrelenting, 12-day U. S. fleet attack on Gaum and setbacks on every other war front save China.

Tykyo said the post of navy minister was changed as part of preparations "in view of the present grave war situation."

The unprecedented warship and plane pounding of Gaum, second only to Saipan as a Marianas island base, elicited from Tokyo radio frank admission that "the war situation does not allow a moment of optimism."

NEW ENGLISH FORCES DUE

Adm. Chester W. Nimitz announced yesterday that fleet-based bombers thumped rockets and bombs into Guam's railway facilities Saturday, 12th consecutive day the U. S. pre-war outpost has been hit.

No other Pacific island has taken such a concentrated slugging.

Prime Minister John Curtin of Australia, adding to Japan's bad news, said large and powerful British forces would be thrown into the Pacific War "this year," to enforce a defeat on Japan as decisive as that awaiting Germany.

Nimitz announced the first land-based bombing of Iwo Jima island, 750 miles southeast of Tokyo, by presumably flying from Saipan.

Japanese troops applied heavy pressure to break Hengyang's resistance and were attacking Yingtak, 225 miles to the south.

NEW GUINEA JAPS HELD

Fighting raged outside Tengchung, prime Japanese base above the Burma road in Yunnan Province. Chinese troops also fought hard to reopen a land route to China. In north Burma Stilwell's rain-siddened men continued whittling down Japanese defenders of Myitkyina.

On New Guinea's north coast Allied troops firmly held their positions after turning back two attacks by a Japanese force trying to break out of entrapment.

Yanks Close in On Leghorn

ROME, July 17 (AP)—American troops climbed in on Livorno (Leghorn) today after capturing thedominating height of Monte Maggiore and pushing on up the Itilian west coast to the edge of Montenero, four miles from the port.

Other American forces slammed forward in the Era valley to within five and one-half miles of the Arno river.

French troops of the Fifth Army drove back one heavy counterattack and held to their pasitions atPoggibonsi.

Heaviest German counter-thrust came in the Era Velley at Campannoli, point of deepest American penetration. At night the Nazis rolled the doughboys back a "few hundred yards."

ater the Americans retook the lost ground.

Deep inland Lorenzana, 11 miles from the coast, fell to other Fifth Army troops who pushed on within a half mile of Crispina.

On the Eighth Army front, German losses mounted with the British capture of the key communications center of Arezzo.

Allies Scientific, Von Kluge Wails

NEW YORK, July 17 (INS)—Field Marshal von Kluge complained today that Allied invasion forces were fighting the war in a scientific manner.

A German broadcast, monitored by the FCC, quoted Von Kluge as saying Allied troops did not advance until they had made certain that aerial bombs and artillery had cleared the way for them.

"The demand on the single soldier on our side and also on the command is thereby extraordinarily strong," he added.

Bomber Plunges In Wilbraham

NORTH WILBRAHAM, July 17 (AP)—An Army bomber crashed here today, and witness said several members of the crew escaped by parachute as the plane fell. Further details were not immediately avaliable.

TAKEN IN ST. LO FIGHT—Three German paratroopers, captured by advancing Yanks in the St. Lo sector of France, are started on a jeep ride to a prisoners' enclosure behind the lines.

1250 U.S. Planes Hit Normandy

By GLADWIN HILL

LONDON, July 17 (AP)—Up to 750 U. S. heavy bombers attacked a dozen river bridges leading to the Normandy front, the Belfort railroad yards in eastern France and a flying bomb supply dump near Rheims today in one of the largest support attacks by four-engined aircraft during the invasion.

Up to 500 fighters escorted the Flying Fortresses and Liberators.

Radio Berlin said the eRich itself was under attack for the fifth time in a week. It was one of the rare days since invasion that clear skies has permitted full use of overwhelming Allied air power.

Belford is near Switzerland, 215 miles southeast of Paris. Rheims is 75 miles northeast of the capital and closer to the Calais coast where the rabot platforms hurl buzz bombs at London.

The daylight thrusts were preceded by a two-ply night assault upon the continent in which a strong force of British-based RAF Mosquitos blasted a German synthetic oil plant at Homberg, in the Ruhr, while Italy-based heavy bombers attacked an oil refinery at Smederovo near Belgrade, Yugoslavia.

The Mosquito attack on the Ruhr was carried out without loss of a plane. Allied headquarters in Italy announced lost of 20 planes. Enemy losses in the Mediterranean were put at 44 planes.

More than 1000 Britain-based U. S. heavy bombers attacked Munich, Saarbrucken and other vital targets in Germany yesterday while medium bombers blasted German positions holding up the Allied ground advance around St. Lo. Twelve of the heavy bombers and three fighters were lost to intense enemy flak.

Russian Yak-9 fighters struck industrial objectives in East Prussia, making the assault on the Reich a three-sided affair.

New McGrath Finder Story

Information that the body of Frances McGrath was discovered in a Norwell grove three days before police were led to the remains of the brutal slayer's victim was transmitted to Dist. Atty. Edmund R. Dewing today in his Dedham office.

Atty Antonio D. Cardozo gave the new evidence to Dewing in behalf of his client, John Lopez, 55, Scituate carpenter and war worker, who is held at Plymouth jail in $50,000 on a charge of being an accessory after the fact.

Police were sent immediately to the jail to question Lopes again after Cardozo, in a telephone conference with his client, instructed him to talk freely.

Learning, however, that friends of Lopez apparently had succeeded in raising enough money to bail him out, Dewing said he would move immediately to have his bail increased or have him held without bail in order to keep him in jail until the new evidence could be investigated.

According to the information supplied by Cardozo, Lopes and a woman drove in his truck into the lonely grove in Norwell at 8:30 a. m. on June 13, and discovered the body of the daughter of former City Councilor John McGrath of Dorchester.

Cardozo said Lopes remained silent because he did not wish the woman to become involved in the situation but the discovery preyed on his mind and he finally went to police the following Friday.

Dewing said the new information would account for the fact that marks of the tire tread of Lopes' truck was found near where the child's body was discovered and for the insistence of medical authorities that she had been dead for some time before the body was found.

panion was given to Dewing by

The name of Lopes' woman companion Cardozo and investigators were ordered to find her at once for questioning.

Noxon Has No Callers, Mail

Asking no special favors and speaking to no one except the guard outside his death row cell, John F. Noxon, Pittsfield corporation lawyer convicted of murdering his mongoloid infant son, today spent his sixth day in Charlestown State Prison quietly reading.

Since he entered the prison, July 12, Noxon has had no visitors or mail, according to prison authorities. His only companions are the books he obtains from the library.

Zoo Bear Bites Girl's Arm Off

NEW YORK, July 17 (AP)—The right arm of Miss Catherine Searles, 24, of Rahway, N. J., was bitten off today by Soc, a mile Polar bear at the Central Park Zoo, after, police said, the animal had been awakened in its cage at 2 a. m.

The girl, equestrienne and daughter of Henry Malcolm Searles, zinc manufacturer, was taken to Roosevelt hospital for emergecy surgery and was reported in critical condition.

Police of Arsenal station said Miss Searles and three companions went to the zoo early today. In the party were Miss Gertrude Brady, daughter of New York City auctioneer Henry Brady; Cpl. Edward Cheney of Manchester, Ct., and William Chick of 317 Commonwealth ave., Boston.

They stopped in front of the open-air cage in which "Soc" and a female polar bear, "Con," were asleep.

Police gave this version of the subsequent events:

The men whistled and shouted to wake up the bars, and then Cheney waved his garrison cap through the bars. "Soc" swiped at the cap, striking it from the soldier's hand. With a branch broken from a tree, the men retrieved the cap.

Miss Searles then waved her handkerchief at "Soc." The bear struck at it, his claw caught her hand and then he sank his teeth into her arm above the elbow.

Cheney and Chick pushed lighted matches at the animal's face. When these failed, they held a lighted newspaper at his snout. "Soc" released his grip. The men carried the girl to a nearby building and called police.

Miss Searles, a volunteer ambulance driver for Knickerbocker hospital here, had been living with friends in a Park ave. apartment. Her parents were spending the summer at Lake Placid, N. Y.

Cheney told police the two men and two women had attended a cocktail party and then had gone to the Stork Club and from there to the zoo.

The bear, in retreating from the lighted newspaper, wrenched Miss Searles' arm loose near the elbow. Later physicians amputated the remainder of the arm just below the shoulder. She was goven a chance to recover by Roosevelt hospital authorities.

Detectives, entering the bears' cage, later retrieved Miss Searles' "Good luck" bracelet and a sapphire and diamond ring.

Germans March Into Moscow

By EDDY GILMORE

MOSCOW, July 17 (AP)—A German army finally marched through Moscow today—as prisoners.

Thousands upon thousands captured in the Red army offensive moved through the capital on foot while being transferred from rail stations on their long way back to the east. In all, 57,600 trudged wearily through the streets.

More than a million Muscovites filled the streets. There was no cheering.

The prisoners marched from cars to platforms and then calvalrymen of the Moscow garrison, shining sabers over their shoulders, herded them into the streets.

Two German General were in the first group, which included all officers.

Thousands of boys and girls quietly watched the parade.

Hurricane Moves Northeast at Sea

WASHINGTON, D. C. July 17 (AP)—All storm warnings were lowered along North Carolina and Virginia coasts today as a tropical storm, probably of hurricane intensity, that had hovered about 25 miles in the Atlantic began rapid movement to the northeast.

"The northeastward movement at about 15 miles an hour or faster will continue today and there is no further threat to the coast," said Grady Norton, chief forecaster of the federal storm warning service in a 10 a. m. (EWT) advisory.

The storm's center at that hour was approximately 225 miles southeast of Cape Hatteras, he stated. Dangerous gales and strong winds, their exact velocity unknown, extended over a wide area.

Police Hunt Thieves In $900 Liquor Break

Thieves who used a stolen hearse to cart off 35 cases of assorted liquor, valued at $900, in a raid on a Dorchester ave., Dorchester, tavern, were sought by police today. The hearse, owned by J. B. Cole of Dorchester, was found later in Intervale st., Roxbury.

Police who found a side door of the tavern broken open, notified Alphonse Notogiacon, of Lyons st., Dorchester, the proprietor.

Robots Again Hit London, South

LONDON, July 17 (AP)—The Germans struck at London and the southern counties with their flying bombs again early this morning, adding to the casualties and damage caused by indiscriminate robot attacks on the same areas yesterdayand last night.

Press dispatches from Sweden, meanwhile, quoted the newspaper Stockholms Tidingen as saying the Germans were concentrating in Denmark large numbers of robot bombs wighing as much as 10 tons and capable of travelling through stratosphere as far as New York.

Military experts here were somewhat skeptical of the Swedish report, the source of which was not disclosed, although one said it was well established that the Germans had been experimenting with robots capable of traversing a much greater distance than those they have been employing against Britain.

Battle on Wallace Rages Despite Letter From F. D.

By DAVID SENTNER
Special to Boston Evening American

CHICAGO, July 17—Franklin D. Roosevelt—who has tuned off his 16 years in the White House campaign to the theme of the indispensable military leader—is also playing the role of commander-in-chief of this Democratic national convention.

LOOKING OVER THE STADIUM—Gov. Robert S. Kerr of Oklahoma, keynoter of the Democratic national convention, explains the layout of Chicago stadium to (l. to r.) Mrs. Helen Gahagan Douglas, wife of Actor Melvyn Douglas and Democratic nominee for Congress from California's 14th District; Mrs. Dorothy Vredenburgh, secretary national committee; and Sen. Samuel Jackson of Indiana. Associated Press Wirephoto

The President, by remote control and by means more direct, is directing the strategy and tempo of the gathering.

Existence of a letter from the President to Sen. Samuel D. Jackson of Indiana, convention permanent chairman, bearing on the controversial candidacy for renomination of Vice President Henry A. Wallace, has been admitted grudgingly by Robert E. Hannegan, chairman of the national Democratic committee.

Hannegan said, "The letter would speak for itself" when made public probably today or tomorrow.

WALLACE DUE THERE

A high-ranking New Dealer, says the President declares in the letter he would vote for the nomination of Wallace if he were a delegate, but added it was up to the convention to decide the matter.

Anti-fourth term Democrats interpreted the letter as an attempt to soften the southern revolt against New Deal radical policies and, at the same time, satisfy the strong Communist and CIO Political Action Committee support for placing Wallace on the ticket.

Wallace is due here Wednesday to conduct his battle for renomination.

The purported I'm-for-Wallace-but-it-is-up-to-the-convention presidental communication produced various conjectures.

"It is carrying water on both shoulders and nobody can guess which way it will spill," declared a member of the anti-New Deal Texas delegation.

Another critic maintained the letter would tip the scales in favor of the renomination of Wallace on the theory Roosevelt was entitled to the running mate he preferred.

A survey of sentiment among delegations indicated overwhelming antipathy to the Wallace nomination on the grounds he is pro-Soviet, an extreme internationalist, a theorist and would cost the Democratic ticket at least a million votes if amed.

Satirical references to the "commander-in-chief" cropped up repeatedly during the Hannegan news conference.

"In what capacity has the President expressed his views in his letter to Senator Jackson—as commander-in-chief or as a candidate?" asked one newspaperman.

"He is writing it as a personal letter," Hannegan replied with an uncomfortable smile.

The President was attempting to steer the convention ship by political radar through other possible reefs, Hannegan also revealed.

He said he had discussed the party platform with the President "in a general way" and added the President probably had discussed his views with the platform committee.

SPOKESMAN FOR F. D.

Hannegan was asked if he considered himself the "spokesman" for the President. He replied:

"Remember, I am chairman of the national committee. I except to be in constant communication with the President."

The military theme of the Roosevelt fourth-term candidacy will have its tom-tom at the convention.

Tom Garry "the voice from the sewer" has created 88 life-sized wooden mannequins representing soldiers, sailores, marines, nurses, WACS and WAVES, which will be paraded for the President whenever his name is mentioned at the convention.

Garry, Chicago commissioner of sewers, believes the result will outdazzle his feat of detonating a mighty vocal demand for the nomination of Roosevelt in the 1940 convention when he linked in from the cellar to the loud speaking system.

Dewey Confers With GOP Senate Chief

By LEO W. O'BRIEN

ALBANY, July 17 (INS)—Republican chances of winning a majority of the United States Senate next November were expected to be discussed today at an executive mansion conference between Gov. E. Dewey and Senate Minority Leader Wallace H. White, Jr.

Senator White came to Albany with members of the Maine Republican congressional delegation, fourth such New England group to confer with Gov. Dewey since the latter's nomination for the presidency.

His arrival follows the visit of Rep. Charles A. Halleck of Indiana, chairman of the Republican congressional committee, who said his party is sure to win a majority in the House of Representatives next November.

The GOP faces a more difficult job in the Senate, however, because fewer seats are at stake.

Gov. Dewey returned here last night after a weekend at his Pawling farm, devoted mainly to rest and study of State papers. The Republican nominee talked on the telephone Saturday, however, with two of the 25 Republican governors with whom he will meet at St. Louis Aug. 2 and 3. He also talked with National Chairman Herbert Brownell, Jr.

Several former associates of Wendell L. Willkie talked with the latter after conferences with Gov. Dewey in Albany last week, it was learned today, presumably to urge that he support the 1944 ticket.

In addition to Sen. White, members of the Maine delegation scheduled to have a luncheon conference with Gov. Dewey at the executive mansion were Sen. Ralph O. Brewster and Reps. Robert Hale, Frank Fellows and Margaret Chase Smith.

Money Parley Extended 3 Days

BRETTON WOODS, N. H., July 17 (AP)—The United Nations monetary conference today was extended three days beyond its original scheduled closing date to permit the vast amount of technical work to be completed without pressure.

An official statement emphasized that the conference would reach agreement "on all matters of substance" by Wednesday, the closing date first fixed, but the final plenary session was moved back to Saturday.

As a result of the decision to delay departure until Sunday the Mt. Washington Hotel dispatched telegrams to several hundred prospective guests delaying or cancelling their reservations.

The sessions here already have brought agreement on plans for an $8,800,000,000 postwar "prosperity fund."

200 Democrats Leave for Convention

Headed by State Chairman William H. Burke, Jr., more than 200 delegates and party leaders were to leave North Station this afternoon to attend the Democratic national convention sessions at Chicago. Included in the group are 12 delegates, 12 alternates-at-large and 100 district delegates and alternates from the 14 Massachusetts districts.

Begs Democrats Aid Son Jailed in Britain

By DAVID CAMELON
Special to Boston Evening American

CHICAGO, July 17—In the hands of every delegate arriving for the Democratic national convention today there lies a mother's plea for fairness for Tyler Kent, American embassy clerk, held in a British prison.

Kent was sentenced in May, 1940, in a secret British trial to serve seven years in prison, his mother charges, after he had divulged the pre-Pearl Harbor war dealings of President Roosevelt and Winston Churchill—then first lord o fthe British Admiralty.

For four years his mother has been fighting for his release from prison, and his return to a fair trial in American courts, under American laws, where the whole story of the secret Roosevelt-Churchill messages might be told.

In her appeal to the delegates today she said:

"Your party's reputation is at stake in the unjust detention of my son in England.

"Millions of indignant Americans have learned of this outrageous injustice. You and your fellow delegates have the power to end it."

"The American people are entitled to the full facts."

The resolutions committee of the convention, headed by Rep. John McCormack of Massachusetts, weigh the merits of Mrs. Kent's plea.

Kent was a code clerk in the American Embassy in London in 1939, and worked at encoding and decoding messages between Roosevelt and Churchill.

Mrs. Kent charges:

"The messages, it appears, dealt intimately iwth Mr. Churchill's plans to bring America into the war as a matter of British policy. That was two years before Pearl Harbor. Naturally, my son was alarmed.

"Distraught, it seems that he confided in a mebmer of the British House of Commons, a Capt. Ramsay, one of Mr. Churchill's political foes. It appears that the contents of the 1939 secret cablegrams soon became important political gossip in London."

But it was not until six months later, she charges—not until Churchill became prime minister—that Kent's arrest and secret British trial were ordered.

Referring to the secret British trial, Mrs. Kent asked:

"Why this strange procedure?

"Who was it that did not want the American people to know what Tyler Kent knew?

$645,000 Salary Tops Year's List

WASHINGTON, July 17 (AP)—A newcomer, Sidney R. Fleisher, took first place today with $645,000 in the first edition of the Treasury's 1942 list of corporation salaries.

The report, which does not list income from capital or investments, includes individuals who received $75,000 or more from corporations for personal services for the calendar year 1942 or corporation fiscal years ending in 1943.

The report lists gross receipts in salaries, commissions, bonuses or other compensation before payment of federal and state income taxes which reduce materially the net amounts.

REPLACES MAYER

Fleisher, in New York, described himself as a moving picture negotiator for the Dramatic Guild, selling screen rights for plays. The $645,000 was listed by the Treasury as having been paid him by Twentieth Century-Fox Film Corp. He replaces, at least temporarily, movie magnate L. B. Mayer at the head of the list.

Mayer, who topped last year's list with $949,765.84 in salary and other compensation from Loew's, Inc., was not included in today's list. Treasury officials explained, however, that supplementary lists are issued.

Eugene C. Grace, president of Bethlehem Steel, took second place. He received a salary of $180,000 and a bonus of $357,724, a total of $537,724, the same as for the preceding year.

Thomas J. Watson, head of International Business Machines Corp., received $100,000 in salary and $326,548.94 in other compensation, a total of $426,548.94. This gave him third ranking.

In fourth place came John B Hawley, Jr., of Northern Ordnance of Minnesota with $400,000.

COLBERT TOPS STARS

So. Boston Demands Curb On Rioting Ex-Prisoners

While South Boston citizens called for stern measures against rioting former Italian prisoners of war, a squad of 10 Boston policemen stood guard today to prevent further escape attempts and other incidents at Camp McKay, South Boston.

The detail was ordered during a visit by Police Commr. Thomas F. Sullivan, shortly after irate members of the South Boston Citizens' Ass'n scheduled a protest meeting tonight at 8:30 at the Dorchester st. health unit.

Members charge the Italian riots, the latest of which caused injuries to four policemen, have deprived them of a much needed beach and park recreation center. Many want the ex-prisoners removed completely from the area.

Army authorities, meanwhile, announced 50 members of the Italian Service Unit have been ordered from Camp McKay and will revert to the status of prisoners of war.

BARRED FROM PARK

But this action brought little contentment to South Boston citizens who have been forced from the tree-shaded green of Columbus Park by the latest outbreak.

Police reserves have barred the public from the cool of the park and parts of nearby Carson beach until the Army is able to control its Italian charges.

One of the first moves of the city is expected to be the building of a high fence 200 feet from the Army stockade which has proved unable to confine the prisoners.

JUMPED FENCE

The latest outbreak started when a prisoner jumped the fence to retrieve a soccer ball. Before the ensuing battle was over Patrolmen Charles Clapp, Robert Thompson, Lindsay J. Lafford and Matin J. Kelly had been taken to City Hospital for treatment for injuries.

Patrolman Clapp, on duty at the park, halted the prisoner when he jumped the fence.

Other members of the unit climbed the fence to his assistance and sime of those who remained inside the compound began throwing stones and pieces of lumber at Clapp. One ex-prisoner slipped behind him and was trying to draw the officer's revolver from the holster when Patrolmen Kelly and Thompson arrived in a cruising car.

Flier Gave Life To Save Bathers

Thousands of grateful bathers today lauded the heroic sacrifice of Ens. William Oren Seymour, Jr., of Monroe, N. C., who gave his life in a crash landing off Savin Hill Yacht Club rather than endanger the lives of swimmers on crowded Malibu beach nearby.

Its engine skipping, the Navy pursuit ship swung in low for a landing on the smooth beach strip. But when the courageous pilot saw the thousands on the beach below he swerved sharply and angled for the bay, skimming over sailboats before plunging to the bottom in 15 feet of water.

Six women fainted. Men and women swimmers turned to the spot and dived repeatedly in an unsuccessful attempt to free the trapped pilot. His body was recovered a half hour later when Navy and Coast Guard craft raised the wreckage.

Hostess 'Corpse'

TOWANDA, Pa., July 17 (AP)—A number of relatives arrived by train yesterday to attend the "funeral" of Mrs. Ash Parsons.

Mrs. Parsons greeted them sleepily—it was six o'clock in the morning—and cooked breakfast.

One of the relatives, misinterpreting a telegram, had spread the erroneous report of her death.

Hub Flag Presented To Boston, England

By HUCK FINNEGAN

Boston Evening American War Correspondent

BOSTON, England, July 17 (via cable)—Symbolic of the close ties of friendship which bind Boston, England, to Boston, Mass., a silk American flag, gift of Mayor Tobin of the New England city, waves today over this Lincolnshire city in connection with the 14th annual celebration of "Two Bostons Day."

The flag was brought from Boston, Mass., by Miss Maude Boston, a native of Lincolnshire, England.

Impressive ceremonies in the 600-year-old parish church known the world over as "Boston Stump" marked the celebration attended by high dignitaries of England and America.

HUB MAN WITH WINANT

The mayor of Boston, Ald A. Bradley, was accompanied by Capt. Nelson W. Pickering, U. S. Navy, representing the American ambassador to the Court of St. James, John B. Winant. The captain is a ntive of Boston, Mass.

Capt. Pickering presented the Stars and Stripes to Mayor Bradley, recalling that it was idealism which sent the Puritans of Boston, Lincolnshire to found the new Boston centuries ago.

"From this old town," he said, "came something which is helping not only our two cities, our two nations, but which is of significance for all the peoples of the earth.

CLOSER TIES ASKED

"This flag is the symbol of quiet people from a quiet country town who were moved by their ideals to build a new world for their dreams.

"Both our nations dream of building a new world when this war is over, but it can only come true if the people of the United States and the British Commonwealth draw ever closer the ties between them, like the friendship between Boston and Boston, of which this flag is a symbol."

Gail Patrick and Hubby Reunited

MIAMI, Fla., July 17 (AP)—Screen actress Gail Patrick and her bridegroom, Navy Lt. Arnold eDan White, were reunited when White's commanding officer, Lt. Com. H. F. Webster, removed restrictions which had confined him to bachelor officers' quarters here.

White had been ordered restricted for 10 days for going to Jacksonville Tuesday to marry Gail. She arrived here Friday to continue her tour of military hospitals.

Welder Cleared In Holdup Death

Cleared today of any connection with the shooting of John Podubny, 28, of South Boston, a 22-year-old Fore River shipyard welder was held for illegal possession of two revolvers.

The husky, 6 ft. 4in. youth told Lt. George Augusta he purchased the guns at the shipyard for $25 each. He also admitted that he accidentally shot himself in the leg recently while handling one of the guns.

He was one of two men picked up by police in the search for the holdup man who attempted to rob the South Boston Co-operative Bank real estate office Saturday. Podubny was shot as he pursued the fleeing bandit.

The second suspect, a 31-year-old South Boston man, was held for questioning by Capt. Robert Lynch in South Boston station.

6000 Cars Tagged In Tax Stamp Drive

With more than 6000 automobiles already tagged, internal revenue agents today continued their campaign to see that every automobile in the State is equipped with a $5 federal tax stamp.

In the latest move, agents tagged several hundred automobiles whose windshields were stickerless

7 Hurt in Maine B. & M. Bus Crash

SACO, Me., July 17 (AP)—Seven passengers were injured today—none seriously—when a Boston and Maine bus, bound for Boston, left the road and rolled completely over near a Route 1 underpass.

Five of the injured were taken to the Maine General Haspital at Portland and two to the Weber Hospital at Biddeford.

B. & M. officials said the bus was driven by Earl J. Urban, who reported the bus "failed to respond" when he attempted to turn with the road on a curve.

The bus scraped along a cable fence, rolled over an embankment, and landed upright at the bottom.

British-German Swap Plan Fails, Is Report

LISBON, July 17 (INS)—Almost a thousand Germans who arrived here on the Swedish exchange ship Drottingholm may have to return to their war prisons because of a breakdown in arrangements for their transfer, according to reports widely circulated here today.

Portuguese authorities have permitted some 500 of the Germans to live ashore, but if reports of the failure of exchange plan are confirmed, officials are expected to put the repatriates back aboard the Drottingholm to be returned to South Africa.

OPA Aims to Force Wider Car Pooling

WASHINGTON, July 17 (AP)—OPA is preparing for a nationwide drive starting Aug. 1 to force greater participation in car pooling.

It is aimed not at A ration drivers but at motorists who get extra gasoline for home-to-work driving.

OPA wants them to form car pools with neighbors who receive extra rations for similar driving, so that through rotation each one's car need be used about one day out of five.

The reason: To conserve gasoline and tires and reduce wear on this country's dwindling supply of automobiles.

TOO FEW TIRES

The home-to-work drivers with extra gas rations are entitled to new tires. But there are not enough tires to fill their demands.

And OPA officials estimate 4000 cars wear out daily. The 28 million automobiles in use in 1941 have dropped to 23 million. This reduction has dumped an increasingly greater burden on other kinds of transportation like street cars and buses.

If a driver can't form a pool, OPA wants him to take carless neighbors to work.

30-DAY LIMIT

When John Jones asks for renewal of extra rations after Aug. 1, he will be given a renewal for 30 days if he is not in a car pool. If, at the end of that time, he still is not in a pool, the board will not allow him further extra rations.

He will have to show the board the signatures of the people in his pool.

Special cases will be given special consideration.

'Baby Long Tom' Rips Nazis in Italy

ROME, July 17 (AP)—An American 90-mm. anti-aircraft gun, the "Baby Long Tom," which hurls explosive shells at terrific velocity, is being used against enemy troops in Italy with devastating effect.

This highly mobile weapon, which can be fired at distant targets in much the same fashion as a sniper's rifle, is an adequate American answer to the Nazis' famed 88-mm. gun.

German prisoners told of the terrible effect of its shells on enemy troops, particularly since the shell bursts in their midst at the very moment the crack of the gun is heard.

WAC Beauty Parlor in France

A beauty parlor, beachhead style, is being operated exclusively for WACs a few miles behind the front lines in Normandy by WAC Cpl. Lena Marcoux of Covel st., Fall River.

This was disclosed today in an Associated Press dispatch telling of activities of the first WAC contingent to reach the beachhead, less than six weeks after their GI brothers had fought their way into France.

AP Writer Barbara Wace, who is with the Women's Army Corps in Normandy, told of looking forward to getting a shampoo, set and haircut, without charge, from Cpl. Marcoux.

"Cpl. Marcoux is an expert. And it will take an expert, for my hair is thick with dust from a long truck trip from the beach, when we waved endlessly to the GI's en route—GI's who dropped shovels to stare, first astounded and then delighted," she wrote. "None who made the trip could doubt the soldiers welcomed their own girls in Normandy."

Among the New Englanders Writer Wace noted in the WAC contingent was a gray-haired private, Mary T. Thompson of Pemberton st., Providence, R. I., a housewife for 15 years.

Splitup of Empires Called Key to Peace

By KARL VON WIEGAND
Dean of American War Correspondents

There always have been and are today nations, like individuals, that are more virile, more vital, more industrious, more ambitious, more hard working than other nations.

America, Germany, Japan, and since 1917 Soviet-Russia, are the outstanding examples in the last 75 to 100 years.

There are other nations that are static or declining in their virility and national vitality as reflected in the birth rates. Of these Britian and France are outstanding. America and Russia have had, still have, ample room for expansion of population within their own borders.

Japan proper is not quite as large as California. It has 73,000,000 population; California has 7,000,000.

Germany, including Austria, is smaller by more than 40,000 square miles than Texas. Germany has 80,000,000 people; Texas has less than 7,000,000.

LIKE A VACUUM

Australia is in area almost as large as the United States. Its population is not quite 7½ million, or less than that of New York city. It is a "vacuum" in one of the most congested population corners of the earth.

The island of Java, in area smaller than the state of New York, has a population of 46,900,000. New York has under 14,000,000.

Open the books of history and we are amazed and bewildered by the array of great empire and nations and peoples that have come and vanished, some leaving almost no traces in the dust of this earth to which they returned.

In our own hemisphere there were the Inca and Aztec empires and the Myra ruins of an unknown civilization in Yucatan. Thirty-two dynasties vanished in the valley of the Nile in Egypt.

There were the great empires of Alexander the Great, of Darius, Xerxes, the Republics of Greece, intellectually perhaps superior to ours today, the Roman republic and empire, the empires of Genghiz Khan, Tamerlane, Kublai Khan, Ahkbar in India, Charlemagne, the Holy Roman Empire, the Mohammedan realm, the Spanish, Dutch and Napoleonic empires.

ALL HAVE GONE

They have vanished. Like individuals, they came, grew to maturity, declined from one or other cause, spiritual, moral and physical, passed away.

Great empires owned by nations too small in population to cultivate, develop or populate them must be broken up or made available to the virile people of growing and overcrowded countries, if we are sincere in the desire for enduring world peace.

It is estimated that the inhabitants of this earth number around 2,100,000,000. Of that number less than 700,000,000, or about one-third, belong to the white race, and 1,400,000,000, or two-thirds, are of the colored races. The disparity is steadily growing. The British census in India revealed that despite famines, epidemics and high death rate, the population of India increased over 37,000,000 in the ten years from 1930 to 1940. That means that the increase of population in only forty years will equal the total population of the United States.

Leaders, statesmen and politicians are reluctant to face the underlying fundamental principles, problems and issues that must be solved to bring us promise of long enduring peace.

Trucks Pick Up Paper and Tin

With the need for waste paper and tin now greater than ever, salvage trucks began collections today in East Boston, Charlestown, North West and South Ends and the Back Bay.

"We must get out every scrap of paper to prevent a threatened curtailment in the manufacture of vital paper products for our fighting forces during the summer months," George G. Hyland, salvage director, declared.

The collections by city trucks will continue throughout the week. Tomorrow pickups will be made in South Boston and Wards 8, 9 and 10 of Roxbury; Wednesday, Wards 11 and 12, Roxbury, and Wards 13 and 14, Dorchester; and Thursday in Wards 15, 16 and 17, Dorchester, and Ward 18 in Roslindale and Mattapan.

The July drive will end Friday, with collections in Wards 19-22, in Jamaica Plain, West Roxbury, Roslindale, Allston and Brighton.

Cabbie's Death Laid To Injury in Faint

A verdict of accidental death was given today in the death of James Gookin, 40, of Peters st., Back Bay, a taxi driver, who died at City Hospital of a fractured skull.

At first believed to be the victim of foul play, police now have determined that Gookin suffered a fainting spell and suffered his injury when he fell to the pavement.

8 Persons Killed By Autos in Week

Eight persons were killed in Massachusetts by automobiles last week, one fewer than the previous week and four less than during the corresponding period a year ago, according to report by Registrar Goodwin.

Included among the fatalities were three pedestrians and one bicycle rider.

Many Small Jobs Face V-Gardeners

By FOSTER WEISS

Head of Vegetable Garden Department, Norfolk County Agricultural School, and Director of the Bernard Gardening Adventurers Demonstration Garden at Boston Garden.

If you want top production all the way through the growing season, you cannot stop working now and wait for the harvest. There are many jobs that still demand attention in the successful garden.

In checking our garden on the Common, the following jobs needed attention and there is plenty of work. Many of these jobs are small, but must be attended to.

Weeds going to seed. In many gardens there are a few scattered weeds that have been missed. These have now attained some size and are going to seed. If these seeds get into the garden they can cause trouble for years. Pull all big weeds around the garden plot.

Clean up old crops as soon as you finish harvesting. Recently we were pulling some beans which had been picked over three times and the question was asked why they were being pulled. Early bush beans will not produce again but will act as the host for bean beetles and disease which will spread to later plantings. These old plants are only taking up valuable space which should be producing succulent crops. We are pulling our early crops as soon as ready and will replant with another crop.

High production is only maintained by replanting land used for early crops.

MIDSUMMER PLANTING

There is still time to plant many crops for late summer and fall. In fact, a good garden could be started at this late date and give excellent results. Such main crops as beets, carrots, cabbage, beans, late turnips and swiss chard will mature a full crop. Fall crops of lettuce, spinach, kale and chard can be planted later. There is even a possibility of growing another crop of corn if you are located in an area where frost comes late. Use the early maturing varieties such as Marcross or Midget Bantam.

FERTILIZING

I have seen some gardens where many crops are showing signs of plant food deficiency. These crops will do better if given a side-dressing of complete fertilizer. Make a shallow furrow on either side of the row, or apply in a band about one to 12 inches from the plant a light application of fertilizer. Work in lightly and the rain will do the rest.

MULCH TOMATOES NOW

If you have not already mulched your tomatoes now is a good time to do it. I would suggest another application of fertilizer before you place the mulch. Then cover the ground between the plants thoroughly. Unless a mulch is properly applied it will do little good. It must be heavy enough to keep down the weeds to be of any value.

These are just a few midsummer jobs. Watch for more in our later articles.

First Normandy WACs at Chateau

WITH THE WACS IN NORMANDY (AP)—Some miles from the front lines the first WAC contingent to reach the beachhead walked quietly from landing craft and have settled down under canvas within the grounds of an old chateau.

The girls, who came from 23 states, arrived less than six weeks after their GI brothers had fought their way into France, and the detachment of 49 enlisted personnel and six WAC officers was assigned to work at headquarters of a forward communications zone in France.

They had gone through months of training in the United States; a crowded, dangerous Atlantic crossing, and hard work in London. Now in their sleeping quarters—three large squad tents—they have put up gay signs such as "Mine Camp Chateau De La WAC," "Dew Drop In (Leave Key Under Mat)" and "Waldorf Astoria."

Council Studies Tax Charges

The Boston Finance Commission's critical report of Boston property valuations was scheduled for action by the City Council today.

Charging real estate valuations set by the city assessors are far too high, the Finance Commission, in a special message to Mayor Tobin and the council, asserted that refusal of Boston taxpayers to accept the assessors' figures is creating a dangerous situation.

The commission said an ever-increasing number of taxpayers are clogging the docket of the Tax Appellate Board with appeals.

The report is mainly an implied criticism of the reduced 1944 tax rate of $39.90 below the 1943 rate of $41, and questions the "propriety" of the reduction in the face of mounting costs of municipal administration and decreasing revenues.

A Post-war Plan to Help "Small Business"...

3RD
in a series of ads on post-war opportunities

Every business starts small. No business, however large, can function without good smaller businesses working with it day by day. The oil wells and refineries of Esso Marketers could not sell their output without the vast army of local, independent dealers and distributors who bring the bulk of our products to you.

At war, we have seen these businessmen do a magnificent job.

They have worked under most difficult rationing restrictions. Their manpower shortage has grown worse and worse. They have had to push old equipment to the limit.

And still they have done an outstanding job in helping to hold the nation's transportation together.

After the war they will have new tough problems to face—in modernizing facilities, replacing old equipment, expanding their businesses.

To help them do this we announce the Esso Marketers Business Assistance Plan.

THE PLAN, which will be revised from time to time to keep pace with new developments, includes:

1. Suggestions for post-war service station designs.

2. A list of recommended equipment now generally available, to which will be added new equipment from time to time.

3. Modernization of existing service stations to meet post-war needs for petroleum products and the handling of other services for automobiles, trucks and air travel.

4. This plan faces the fact that many of these smaller businessmen will not come through the war with financial reserves equal to their sound business expansion needs. This plan will supplement the service of local commercial banks in lending money to see these men "over the hump" of post-war needs.

Anyone interested in the plan, and qualified for its help, may write:

Army Life Builds Up Physique

By HUCK FINNEGAN

INFANTRY UNIT, Northern Ireland—It is difficult to associate war with the sylvan setting of this camp. Approach is made by jeep through as scenic a landscape as nature provides.

Climate is invigorating despite the constant rain. Soldiers work hard, play hard. They experience little trouble sleeping even though daylight lasts until midnight at this time of year. They eat well.

And so it is not surprising that many of them have gained considerably in stature since their arrival here, particularly the youngsters who were just out of school when war beckoned. Under this heading come:

Pvt. William Hinchcliffe, 8 Pequit st., Canton. Parents: Margaret and Lester. Bill has put on 20 pounds since he came over here.

PFC James C. Cudd, 19, of 8 Johnson st., Millbury. Parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sim Cudd. Girl friend: Nancy Winter, Stone rd., West Millbury. Jim graduated from Millbury High in '42, worked in an A & P. store until the Army took him in March of '43. Rigorous training in the anti-tank corps hasn't prevented him from gaining 15 pounds.

PFC Warren Weatherbee, 26, of 24 Davis st., Springfield. Parents: Mr. and Mrs. Archie. Wife: The former Ann Franguamore. Weatherbee has put on 20 pounds since he came over in November.

PFC Frank Whitehead, 20, of 237 Springfield st., North Agawam. Parents: Mr. and Mrs. Robert. Frank was a machinist in Cogswell's Mfg. Co., West Springfield, has kited from 155 pounds to 175 in his 15 months of service. "My aunt, Alice Liston, lives at 470 Beacon st., Boston." His 19-year-old brother, Robert, Jr., is in the Marines.

PFC Frank Whitehead
No. Agawam

Pvt. Anthony Calapa
Medford

Pvt. Allen Jones, 20, of 22 Austin st., Cambridge. Parents: Henry and Cora Lee. Allen, a blond six-footer, has gained 20 pounds in his 15 months' service. He ran a machine for Beems Associates in Watertown. "I'm going back there after the war. Alfred Howard, my boss, keeps in touch with me." Allen's girl friend, Helen Bradley, is in the WACs.

Pvt. Anthony Calapa, 19, of 207 Riverside ave., Medford. Parents: Mr. and Mrs. Frank. "I used to live at 128 Shawmut ave. and sold the Boston Record for two years while I went to English High night school." Girl: Gemma Mariano, 66 Norfolk st., Dorchester. "I got a letter in my pocket from her."

Tony weighed 127 when he took the oath, weighs 145 now. "I'll weigh more if I get the spaghetti my mother shipped me in a jar."

Pvt. George Stone, 19, of 614 South Bridge st., Holyoke. Parents: Mr. and Mrs. John. Hutmates say Stone is a better singer of cowboy songs than Gene Autry. Worked in Hodges' carpet mill in Holyoke. Stone was a string bean of 142 when he entered service, weighs 170 today.

Pvt. Arthur D. Carota, 20, of 66 Hinchey rd., Lexington. Parents: Mr. and Mrs. Anthony. Carota, a husky chap, has put on 25 pounds in the past year. He has a brother, Anthony, Jr., in the Army Air Corps.

Pvt. Joseph D. Szafranski, 135 Lyman st., Holyoke. Parents: Mr. and Mrs. David. "I've got a sister, Mrs. Olga Bislewicz in Boston. She lives at 17 Garrison st."

There is little for parents to worry about as far as physical welfare of their soldier sons is concerned. That is, until they go into battle. The youngsters work hard, but have plenty of sleep. They spend more time playing softball than they do playing around town. Red Cross clubs provide recreation and reading rooms.

Tomorrow:

Bay Staters who spent 17 months in Iceland are glad that tour of duty is over for them. "No man ought to be sentenced to a place like that more than six months," said one soldier. Huck Finnegan relates their stories in his article tomorrow.

The First Network!

ANOTHER MILESTONE IN THE PROGRESS OF

TELEVISION

CHAIN television is here! With the recent dedication of the new Philco Relay Transmitter at Mt. Rose, N. J., the first Television Network, linking Philadelphia, New York and Schenectady, is in actual operation today. Now Philadelphians enjoy clear reception of programs from New York through their local Philco television station. Thus the first step has been taken through which you will be able eventually to witness events in your home that take place thousands of miles away . . . by television!

HOW PHILCO RESEARCH SPEEDS THE ADVANCE OF TELEVISION

Television today has developed to the point where it offers a clear, enjoyable picture for your home. And just as the Philco laboratories have led the way in bringing you finer, clearer radio tone, so their research in television has emphasized the sharpness, clarity and detail of the picture. The standards they have developed and fostered are now generally accepted in the industry. Some day after Victory, when television arrives in your community, a Philco Television Receiver will bring you a picture that is as great a pleasure to see as a Philco Radio is a delight to hear.

PHILCO TELEVISION STATION WPTZ
A PIONEER IN TELEVISION BROADCASTING

Since 1932, Philco has owned and operated its own television station, a rich laboratory of research and experience for television progress.

The Philco station has televised football, boxing, wrestling and other sports as well as news events direct from the scene of action.

Movies, variety acts, dramatic sketches, illustrated news talks and civic programs have been televised from the Philco studios.

Tapping U. S. Generosity

IN A SECLUDED VALLEY in the shadow of the Presidential Range of the White Mountains, delegates of 44 invited nations to the monetary and financial conference at Bretton Woods, N. H., are considering ways and means of tapping after the war the reservoir of Uncle Sam's well-known generosity.

Despite many differences on details for the proposed international Utopian financial structure, the guests of the United States from all the united and associated nations are on the surface showing extreme courtesy and deference to the United States. For example, without a dissenting voice, they elected Secretary Henry Morgenthau, who is chairman of the American delegation, as president of the conference.

This evidently reflected the view that this was little enough to do for our government, which was providing the party, and which would pour more treasure into the proposed international monetary fund and the proposed international bank for reconstruction and development than any other.

Into the fund, the United States will contribute some 30 per cent of the initial capital, and also assumes a "contingent moral liability" to lend additional dollars as needed. The fund will deal with exchange transactions growing out of short term foreign trade, and the bank will clear intermediate and long term loans.

LORD JOHN MAYNARD KEYNES, foremost exponent of money manipulation as a means of economic planning and chairman of the British delegation, revealed that the capital loans would be advanced by a relatively few countries, CHIEFLY THE UNITED STATES.

Thus, despite new theoretical labels, the old pattern of Uncle Sap appears to be re-emerging.

The United States is supposed to merge such financial strength as it may retain after this devastating war with the monetary poverty of the associated nations.

At a press conference, Lord Keynes freely admitted that Great Britain, which is to be the Number Two member of the fund, was currently UNABLE to make arrangements to permit Allied and neutral countries to get tangible payment on some $12,000,000,000 of sterling balances, which Great Britain had incurred in making foreign purchases.

This figure does not include indebtedness on Lease-Lend, and of course omits the unpaid debit on account of the World War I debt to the United States Treasury.

Toward the end of the first week of the Bretton Woods conference, two British Cabinet members in despatches from London were quoted as saying that Great Britain was "broke."

IN THE CIRCUMSTANCES, representatives of the United States should be circumspect in making postwar commitments.

While the struggle against the Axis is on, there is no difference of opinion among Americans about fighting the enemy directly and through aid to associated nations.

After the war, we should be a good neighbor in making clear to all nations that progress depends on prudent economic behavior, NOT ON SUBSIDIES FROM THE UNITED STATES.

Our Treasury cannot give anything away in the postwar world without diverting from American farmers, workers and others part of the products they make, to which they and their families are entitled.

It is a fortunate circumstance that Congress will have the final right to accept or reject the proposals of the technicians.

It should be the role of Congress, in making an audit, to look beyond the technical complexities in the proposed mechanical schemes for world prosperity to the simple economic truths which underlie the behavior of individuals and nations.

WASHINGTON, July 17—I was packing my long underwear and extra nosebags for my reindeers, preparatory to departure for the snow-swept tundras of Chicago, when a messenger arrived from the Office of Defense Transportation.

He handed me an official-looking envelope. All a-twitter, I tore it open. I blanched because it contained a request that sightseers and visitors stay away from Chicago.

"Dod gast it!" I exclaimed, always reverting to baby talk when aroused. "I trust there is nothing personal in this!"

On reading further, it seemed there might be. The upshot is that I am now in one of the worst quandaries of my life. Can I go to Chicago without falling into one, or maybe both, of the forbidden categories?

I was going to Chicago to cover the Democratic National Convention. But the ODT expressly mentions the convention as the reason for keeping away from Chicago.

The first question is: Can I go to Chicago without being classed as a sightseer? I fully expect to see sights there, and, if you see sights, aren't you a sightseer?

Next question: Will I be a visitor? I have wracked my brains over this. If I go to Chicago I shall be visiting Chicago which might easily make me a visitor. You can see it's a tricky problem.

OF COURSE, I could take up permanent residence, but what would I do in Chicago after the convention is over? I know there are people who would love to tell me what I could do, but I do not listen to that kind of talk.

I suppose I could close my eyes to the sights—I saw a few at the Republican convention that made me wish I was wearing at least blinkers—but I am naturally a nosy type. And suppose something startling happened—like someone nominating Mr. Roosevelt for President—wouldn't I look silly sitting there with my eyes tightly shut?

On second thought, that is not a very good illustration. Maybe I would sit there with my eyes tightly shut.

The ODT urges all sightseers and visitors to stay away from Chicago until the convention is over. It does not say how long this will be. It merely discloses that the conclave opens July 19, which is really not much of a revelation at that, because I knew it already.

AFTER HOURS of soul-searching I have decided to go to Chicago anyway. But I solemnly promise ODT that I will not look at anything or visit anybody!

Is there a kind party who will volunteer to lead me around by the hand?

RECENTLY, I wrote a piece about Rep. William P. Lambertson, of Kansas, who does what is probably the only humorous column of its kind in the world. He writes gags for publication in the Congressional Record.

Today I received the following letter from Sen. Arthur Capper, of Kansas, who is sojourning out in Topeka:

"I am glad that you recognize the superior qualities of our great Kansas columnist, Bill Lambertson. He does a good job."

GLANCING THROUGH the daily log of the Navy's Bureau of Aeronautics, I found this item:

"All desks should search for

O woman! In our hours of ease
Uncertain, coy and hard to please
And variable as the shade
By the light quivering aspen made;
When pain and anguish wring the brow,
A ministering angel thou!
—SCOTT.

A U. S. NAVY man asks for "the poem describing a woman as a ministering angel." He wants to include it in a gift to a Navy nurse. The above must be the poem he has in mind. Don't know how the nurse will like the first part of it . . . What's the difference between the rhumba, conga and the samba? If you claim to have any knowledge of dancing, you should answer that question without hesitation. Anyway, your attention is called to a remark by Alan Burgess: "You think you have seen a rhumba. My dear sir, unless you have been in Havana you have not seen the half of it. The rhumba is not so much a dance as an anatomical jamboree."

TELEPATHY: How about dogs and telepathy? Is a pup tuned in on his master by thought transference in his absence? I believe some dogs are. Particularly those who are greatly devoted to one person. Take the cocker spaniel of Seaman Arthur V. Adams of the Navy. This pup suddenly took up a position by his absent master's old chair and wailed constantly. Shortly afterwards the sailor's father was informed his son had been killed in action. How did the dog know something had happened to his master? That it was by telepathy seems the only logical answer.

a figurehead from the bow of a native war canoe. This figurehead is of mahogany type wood, 6 inches in width and 12 inches in height, and decorated with mother-of-pearl. This head apparently was picked up in error from mail desk in Room 1807.

"If found, please notify Comr. Robert S. Quackenbush, Jr., Room 1805."

I called up Commander Quackenbush to commiserate with him.

"It is undoubtedly a great loss," I said, "but I suppose you are thankful they didn't take the whole canoe." He said: "Just the figurehead. It came from a canoe in the South Pacific. But do not be distressed; my want ad brought it back."

Commander Quackenbush said his experience represented a great plug for the efficacy of want ads.

"The day after it appeared," he said, "a junior officer came running in. He implored me to come at once to his cubicle and when I got there he asked me to look out the window.

"I did—and there was my missing figurehead, perched on the radiator cap of a truck!"

I asked Commander Quackenbush what measures he had taken to retrieve his property.

"I took no chances," he said. "I did not know who had lifted the gadget or how big he might turn out to be. So I sent a WAVE down to get it!"

He identified the WAVE as Miss Clara Toman, a stalwart lady with a far-reaching reputation for standing no nonsense.

Miss Toman reported that the retrieving had been accomplished without bloodshed because the figurehead-swiper had not manisfested himself. A regretful note crept into her voice as she added:

"I sort of wish he had!"

laws were enacted in the United States. In 20 years 233,563 new laws were enacted. But they still claim ignorance of the law is no excuse . . . Dorothy Parker is a war widow. Her husband, Lt. Alan Campbell, is in England with the U. S. Air Force. The Parker in Dorothy's name is that of her first husband, Edward Pond Parker of Hartford, Ct. Her maiden name was Dorothy Rothschild. Her father was Jewish and her mother Scotch . . . Once more note it quoted: "Money is the root of all evil." This is number seven on the list of the most misquoted lines of poetry and prose. The Bible does not say: "Money is the root of all evil." It says: "The love of money is the root of all evil."

QUERIES FROM CLIENTS: Q—What is the lucky number for Sagittarians? A—You probably mean to ask what the stargazers say is the lucky number for Sagittarians. I claim no knowledge of astrology. This department merely checks on astrological claims. The stargazers say the lucky number for Sagittarians is seven. Also, that their lucky day is Thursday and the color they should wear most is light purple. Q—What was the name of that book you said you read 18 times but never could find another person who had read it once? A—It was "Rodney Stone" by Conan Doyle. But I have since found several persons who have read it.

DISASTER: The Chicago Iroquois Theater fire took place on Dec. 30, 1903. This was the greatest disaster in the history of the United States amusement industry. No other circus or theater fire has approached it as a tragic happening. There were 1740 people present and of these 588 lost their lives. The fire started from a defective electrical connection backstage. The attraction was Eddie Foy in "Mr. Bluebeard." After the fire started Foy, with his young son Brian Foy (now a film director), in his arms, unsuccessfully tried to quiet the audience.

Hollywood Today

HOLLYWOOD, July 17—One of the most startling medical books of years is "Kaiser Wakes the Doctors." It succeeded in getting its author, Paul De Kruif, in the center of a storm with the American Medical Association.

I have no intention of putting myself in the middle of this battle, pro or con, but news is news. After seven months of negotiations, Edward A. Golden, who made "Hitler's Children" and "The Master Race," has purchased the De Kruif book and his son, Robert Golden, will produce it in technicolor.

The Goldens, father and son, feel they have such a big property in the controversial story that they hope to bait such a big "catch" as Clark Gable for the starring role. Of course, that means he would have to be borrowed from his home lot, M-G-M, and I have a hunch Metro will keep their top star at home, no matter how attractive other offers may be.

M-G-M has a novel idea for a show case to exploit their new and promising talent, including Tom Drake, Jan Clayton and others who are starting up the ladder. Sam Marx will produce a story called "I Can If I Try." It's about a group of ambitious amateurs who work at the studio—cutters, writers and a director—who sneak into the studio at night and with the connivance of a kindly gateman make a picture which the boss sees and likes. It will serve M-G-M right if they put ideas into the heads of other kids and they try the same thing.

MIRIAM HOPKINS, who has always loved the stage with a passion, is off to New York to start rehearsals in "The Perfect Marriage," Samson Raphaelson's new play. Arthur Lyons set the deal for her, and it's a grand thing for Miriam because Cheryl Crawford, the famed woman producer who did so much for Mary Martin in "One Touch of Venus," is also producing "The Perfect Marriage," which, I am told, several of our most important stage stars were trying to land.

I JUST CAN'T believe that Virginia Weidler is old enough to make dates. Yet I am told she went out dancing with Ray McDonald, one of the nicest members of the younger set. Seems only yesterday that Virginia was on the radio with me and we had to get a box for her to stand on so she could reach the microphone. Virginia has her fans—loyal ones. For instance, a Mrs. Nan Foley of Lafayette, Ind., whom she has never met, has willed her $5000. Mrs. Foley writes her health is failing and Virginia is her favorite actress.

IS CPL. HENRY ROWLAND'S face red? The "Cpl.", who is in "Winged Victory", is holding out from his pals today, after receiving a fan letter that knocked him cold. Seems that before he went into the Air Corps he had played fanatical Nazis in more than a dozen movies and also on the stage. Well, up comes a letter from a German prison camp in Arizona asking him for a "pin-up picture." "We think you are the most interesting actor on the screen," wrote the prisoners. I'll bet Henry doesn't give a hoot what they think.

FEW PEOPLE knew how sick Gregory Ratoff was last week. His life hung in the balance for 24 hours when his fever went perilously high and he was threatened with pneumonia, following a serious operation. Penicillin was given him and he is now out of danger, but it will be some weeks before he is well enough to resume work on "The Bandwagon" and "Music in the Air," the two movies he is set to direct for 20th Century-Fox. They will be held up pending Greg's complete recovery.

FRED ALLEN and Portland arrived in our village today, all ready for Fred's movie, "Fickle Fortune". He has hopes of getting started by September 1, maybe a little sooner, since the story is already under way. Jack Skirball who is making the Allen comedy, went East with Morrie Ryskind, author of "Fickle Fortune", and spent three weeks working with Fred, who always furnishes most of the dialogue on his own show. No one writes better comedy than he, and that's why he is so particular in having the story right.

THE NAME BEN THAU may not be familiar to the fans of the country, but here in Hollywood he is looked upon as an all right guy. And that, my friends, is high praise. Well, Bennie, who has been at M-G-M almost since Leo first started to roar at Culver City, working with Louis B. Mayer and Eddie Mannix, is now a full-fledged vice-president of Loew's Incorporated. That's a break he deserves.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD COLLECTED AT RANDOM: Capt. John Carroll, one of our movie heroes, arrived in town yesterday. He was injured in an airplane landing in Italy and was flown home in a hospital plane. Lupe Velez and Arturo De Cordova as lovey-dovey as you please at a party Lou Ewen gave for Lt. Dennis Day. Let me say Denny looks grand in his uniform. Admiral and Mrs. Ike Johnson were in the party. Mrs. Johnson is one of the most popular women in Hollywood and, as for the Admiral, well, he is many people's favorite admiral. Both of them are always so gracious and extremely kind with picture people.

ANN RICHARDS will wed a service man right after the war, but she's not telling his name; Arleen Whelan is being tested Wednesday by Hal Wallis and a little bird tells me that David Selznick is also interested in getting her name on a contract; June Allyson was with Dick Powell at Slapsy Maxie's, but tonight, at the "Since You Went Away" premiere, she'll be with John Hodiak. Jennifer Jones, who bought a white lace dress for this event, is going with Watson Webb, Jr.; Olivia De Havilland is still in the Good Samaritan Hospital and says she has visited so many, this past year, she is right at home; Mrs. Carroll Doyle, one of Mrs. Danny Danker's closest friends, arrived here Friday to stay with her for a few weeks. So many film folk, who loved Danny, expect that Lorena will carry on with the studio end of his job.

Grill R. I. Chef On Death Cakes

NEWPORT, R. I., July 17—MM 3c Milton Dunham was in critical condition at Newport Naval Hospital today following the death of his wife, Arlene, 27, both of whom were stricken while eating in a Newport restaurant.

Held for questioning was a chef who mixed pancakes the couple are said to have eaten.

Dr. Philomen P. Ciarla, medical examiner, said Mrs. Dunham's death was due to shock through congestion of a chemical poisoning. No formal charge was made against the chef.

Save waste kitchen fats for gunpowder. Take them in clean, wide-mouthed cans to your meat dealer.

MONDAY MEMOS FROM THE CAPE: Riding is a favorite diversion of the younger set at Oyster Harbors. Each week there is a breakfast ride with the youthful equestrians setting out over the seaside bridle paths at the crack of dawn and cantering back for bacon and eggs on the broad porch of the Oyster Harbors Clubhouse.

Friday Mrs. William Danforth's filly Sunday Morn was the lead horse in an all-day ride and picnic to Wequaket Lake, Centerville. The riders included Shirley Ellis, debutante June Beebe Rockwood and her house guest, Maxine Porter of New Britain, Ct.

Attending the first invitation movie show at the clubhouse were Mrs. Edward Stone of Commonwealth ave.; Jan and Shirley Ellis, daughters of Mrs. Alexander Ellis of Belmont; Col. and Mrs. George W. Bunnell and son Curtiss of Winchester.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Archer of Wellesley Hills, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Rowse and Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Barrington of Lexington are among the latest guests to arrive for vacation at the club.

Action Urged on Boric Acid Bill

NEW YORK, July 17—Councilor Vogel of Brooklyn, leader in the fight to have all boric acid containers labeled "Caution—Poison," today announced he would appear before the congressional committee studying the Bloom bill.

This measure, introduced by Rep. Sol Bloom (D.) of New York, would make poison-labeling of the drug mandatory throughout the country.

Vogel wrote to Rep. Lea (D.) of California, chairman of the House Interstate and Foreign Committee, calling for speedy action on the Bloom proposal and offering to place before the committee results gathered in an extensive investigation.

Hypnosis Called Alcoholic Cure

CHICAGO, July 17 (INS) — Chronic alcoholism can be treated by hypnosis, and the senses conditioned against alcohol, Dr. Thomas J. Meyers of Pasadena, Cal., declared.

Dr. Meyers described the treatment in a paper before the American College of Neuropsychiatrists, held in conjunction with the American Osteopathic Ass'n. war service conference.

"The subject must be thoroughly co-operative and willing to accept a program that will take liquor from him forever," the neuropsychiatrist said.

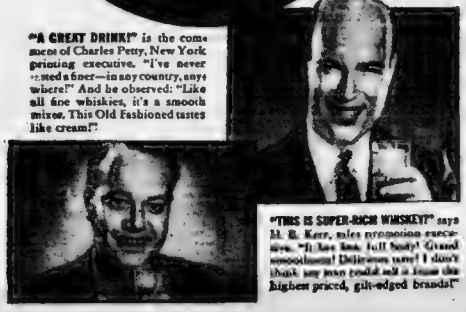
Wanted by Fleischmann! Good Judges of Good Whiskey To Try a Great New Brand!

"YOU CAN'T BUY A WHISKEY that's smoother, richer, or more delicious," says Fred J. Eisler, New York stock broker. "I consider it the perfection of blended whiskey—of high quality, and of superb excellence!"



"A GREAT DRINK!" is the comment of Charles Perry, New York printing executive. "I've never tasted a finer—in any country, anywhere!" And he observed: "Like all fine whiskies, it's a smooth mixer. This Old Fashioned tastes like cream!"

"THIS IS SUPER-RICH WHISKEY!" says H. E. Kerr, sales promotion executive. "It has real, full body! Grand smoothness! Delicious taste! I don't think any man could ask a finer (the highest priced, gilt-edged brands!"

Wouldn't You Like to Serve a Whiskey that has the Full, Ripe Richness of the World's Finest, Most Limited Brands? If you would, now you can! Read why!

• This invitation is written for the few men who are really good judges of good whiskey . . . who can appreciate a whiskey that is as gloriously rich, creamy and delicious as the world's finest, most limited brands—and who do not need anything more to confirm them in their judgment.

We set out several years ago to see if we could make such a whiskey. We spared no expense. We experimented. We drew from the world's choicest reserves. We selected the finest grains, and backed them up with the world's most delicate skill.

The result is—Fleischmann's PREFERRED, one of the world's most remarkable whiskies. Velvety! Creamy! Full! Delicious! We are sorry that we can offer Fleischmann's PREFERRED only in limited amounts as all our distilling facilities are devoted 100% to the war effort. If your dealer has Fleischmann's PREFERRED, try it! You'll always be glad you did!

"I wuz thinkin'...."

by Izzy Ort

Well f o k e s, this week I iz goin' to get serious about s o m e t h i n' which I seldom m e n t i o n, namely biz-ness. And I am startin' out by askin' you a simple ques-t i o n, namely "Why is it that you can have so much more fun in one entertainment spot than you can in another?" The answer ain't easy, but your able correspondent is of da opinion that, less like people, every spot has a PERSONALITY AND CHARACXTER ALL ITS OWN! In me Grille, for instance, dere's dat constant gay atmosfere, dat feeling of "let's all have a good time," and a spirit of friendliness dat can't be matched any place in Boston. In me El Tropico Room dere's a slightly different "air" in da room; the spirit of fun and hooray for everybody is there too, but it's a little different type, wid a little more formality and sofistikation. Yet, me customers tell me wid great enthusiasm about he great time dey have either in me live Grille or me swank El Tropico. Da reason, right entertainment, right service, right drinks, right prices, right everything. It's jess a matter of doin' da job right, from selectin' da floor acts and da bands, and timing it all to keep you peepul happy. Ort's Grille, 25 Essex Street, Boston. Advt.

New Drive-In Schedule

The Drive-In Theatre at Weymouth, New England's original open-air auto movie house, is now changing its programs three times weekly at the request of patrons . . . on Sunday, Wednesday and Saturday. The increasing popularity of these open-air theaters has been attributed to their preference by parents who are taking the children along since the scarcity of "minders."

Gayety Features 'Hey Rookie' Hit

"Hey, Rookie," the comedy in which Joe "Mr. Five-by-Five" Besser goes wacky in khaki and twinkle-toed Ann Miller out-steps herself, is proving to be one of the best screen hits booked into the Gayety in months.

This is the film based on the stage show that played Los Angeles for 36 capacity weeks.

The story concerns Jim Lighter (played by Larry Parks) who is an ex-musical comedy producer now in the Army and his pals' efforts to put on a camp musical with an all-soldier cast. Persistently thwarted, the show finally goes on with the assistance of the USO touring company headed by Winnie Clark (Ann Miller).

Bevy of Stars For Met, Loew's

A dizzying profusion of stars are due for the Metropolitan and State and Orpheum screens on Thursday, when Paramount's "And the Angels Sing" bows into the M and P house and Columbia's absurdly charming "Once Upon a Time" moves into Loew's twin theaters.

Cary Grant is billed as the star of Loew's "Once Upon a Time," but this hot-at-the-box-office film actor takes second place, we are told, to a freckle-faced scene-stealer, nine-year-old Ted Donaldson, and a dancing caterpillar known as Curly.

Janet Blair is co-starred with Grant. Importantly featured are James Gleason, William Demarest Howard Freeman and Mickey McGuire. "Once Upon a Time" was originally a much-talked-about radio play called "My Friend Curly" by Norman Corwin, suggested by Lucille Fletcher Herrman.

"And the Angels Sing" will bring to the Metropolitan screen on Thursday Dorothy Lamour, Betty Hutton, Diana Lynn and Mimi Chandler (the Senator's daughter) as the Angel Sisters' quartet, plus the extraordinary popular Fred MacMurray.

The Angels represent wacky family and the script provides a lot of doors in and out of which the cast does a lot of passing and missing. MacMurray loves Lamour and Hutton loves MacMurray, so you can just imagine!

Raymond Walburn, Eddie Foy Jr., Frank Albertson and Mikhail Rasumny are dependable performers importantly spotted in this piece.

Beauty — Try This New Perfume — Fashion

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE

STEP UP to the "perfume bar" and try a vial of precious perfume that really lives up to what the ads say . . . if you are in the mood for something new and lovely in the way of a scent. A change of perfume often makes your whole world over.

TIRED OF YOUR old perfume? Want something new and different? Uh-huh, we know the feeling. Every girl gets a yen occasionally to try one of those new, daring-sounding scents, but many of them have had disillusioning results in experimenting. And good perfume is expensive experimenting!

That's why so often when we get to the point of buying, we fall back on the scent we've always bought, even though we are fed up with it, and it really hasn't done us any good in the way of a millionaire husband or even an interesting flirtation! (Let's be frank about it . . . perfume has been used for thousands of years by the little woman to snare a man or men!)

Considering all that, we'll still go out on a limb to recommend a group of lovely and different perfumes made by a famous parfumeur. He has designed a "perfume bar" where you may sniff all five, and where you may buy a dram vial of one or several for only a dollar and half.

GRAND INVESTMENT FOR YOUR VACATION

They range from one that suggests flower-fresh country air, for wearing with cottons and play clothes (heavy, exotic scent with tennis shorts is really wrong!) to one with an eyebrow-raising name that is just as provocative and sophisticated as its label. They are all just slick, and moreover they last beautifully.

We suggest, if you are planning your vacation, that you invest in two of these vials, one for casual moods and another for the romantic. You might be surprised at the return on your investment.

I'll tell you where to buy it if you will call the Beauty Department, LIBerty 4000, or write, enclosing a stamped and self-addressed envelope.

COTTON gets more sophisticated every day, as witness this smart black cotton twill ensemble, wonderful for travel or dates in town. It has a straight cardigan jacket, free-striding pattern with a row of shiny buttons down the front. The same style is being made in corduroy for cooler weather, and is sure to be a campus favorite.

Seems Foolish

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:
I'm a girl of 25 years and in love with a married man of 27. He says he loves me, but I'm not so sure he does. He asked his wife for a divorce but she won't give it to him, although he claims he doesn't love her.

I'm not bad looking and could get other boy friends, but they don't interest me as much as this married friend. I've been going with him a year now. Give me advice on this subject, please.
D. J. P.

It's not a new trick, that of the married man who hides behind his wife's skirts and claims she won't give him a divorce. How do you know that he isn't "stringing you along," and doesn't really want a divorce? At 25, I think you're very foolish to waste your youth on prospects so indefinite.

Sounds like a spinster aunt, I know, but cut out the married man.

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:
My son is in the Army, and when he entered, made out his insurance to me. He has recently married. Can he change this insurance over to his wife without notifying me? M. F. G.

The insurance booklet printed by the Veterans Administration states: "The insured under a National Service life insurance policy shall have the right at any time, and from time to time, and without the consent or knowledge of the beneficiary, to cancel the beneficiary designation or to change the beneficiary within the permitted class of beneficiaries."

Dress That's Good for Fall

By BETTINA BEDWELL

AT this time of the Summer when a girl gets that urge for a new dress, what she has to ask herself is: "Is it Worth While?"

The kind of hot weather dress you might want to buy at this moment is more likely than not to be all a mistake, for Summer is just about done for. A dress that is worth its salt has to be one you can wear into the Fall. I mean, of course, that you will want to wear into the Fall.

What you can go in for in the way of a dress that will look good much later is one of those sparkling printed chatlis dresses that are coming out. A model is sketched. This one is a soft September gold in color and is printed with black flowers. It has a flattering ruffle at the neckline, lined with black taffeta, and it parts in the middle and is stitched to the shoulder yoke.

My Day

By Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt

HYDE PARK, Sunday—Some years ago, when our boys were young, they used to go out west occasionally and work on a ranch in summer, and one time three boys who had worked together, motored home in a rickety car with a puppy which one of them had acquired on the way. They arrived with a very sad dog, and were in a state of complete exhaustion themselves, but they made the trip in such a short time that I am quite sure they didn't see anything of the countryside as they passed through it.

So for real sight-seeing in the future, when life becomes normal again, I would not recommend motoring at top speed. But I look forward with pleasure to leisure driving, because it allows one to stop and look at the views, or to take a detour if one hears of something interesting which a few extra hours will allow one to see.

Above all, it gives one a sense of being part of the countryside more than any other method of travel I know, except a bicycle or a horse or your own two feet.

IN EUROPE, these last three ways of traveling have always been more popular than they are here, because the distances to be covered are not as great. I imagine, however, that in this country, motoring will continue to be the way to get a most intimate knowlege of the country.

Train and plane travel will always cause differences of opinion among people who want different things. Trains do not take one so quickly through the countryside, and some people find them more comfortable.

From a plane, one gets more comprehensive views, and after the war we will have planes as manageable as any car, and which can land in a field by your cottage in the country, or on the roof of your city apartment.

They won't fly as quickly as the trans-continental planes do, but they will make your trip anywhere within a radius of a 100 or 200 miles a pleasant day's excursion.

* * *

I WRITE this column because I find so many people are thinking now of future days. Dream journeys sometimes become real journeys, and it is possible to plan for them in a way that we would never do if we knew we could leave at any time the spirit moved us!

Guest Should Keep Prize

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN—
I need your advice as to whether it is obligatory for a person who wins a prize at games at a shower to give it to the guest of honor, regardless of what the prize may be. I will be grateful if you will publish your answer in your column.
B. C.

It seems to me entirely right and reasonable that a guest who wins the prize for a game at a shower should keep the prize, and that she should be expected to keep it, no matter what it is. I realize that this is often a troublesome situation, and if a game-prize is to be given, the hostess should in some graceful way make it clear that this prize is "for the winner." However, if the winner senses there may be any feeling about this on the part of the guest of honor (who, on this occasion, is particularly present-minded!), she will feel more comfortable if she offers the gift to the guest of honor. And, in my judgment, a really gracious guest of honor would insist on the winner's keeping the prize.

The Correct Thing

By ELINOR AMES

NO MEN AT SHOWER! A bridal shower is an "all-girl" affair but it is not incorrect to invite men to join the party after the gifts have been opened and admired. Men are not invited or expected to send gifts to the shower itself.

Canning Peaches

By MARTHA LEE

THERE IS every indication that peaches will be abundant this summer. So homemakers should take advantage of the good supply, and do some home canning for next winter's use.

Choose fresh, firm, ripe fruit with yellow or whitish-yellow background. Never use any with decayed spots.

CANNING RULES

First, wash and peel the peaches. Handle gently so as not to bruise—but wash well. Take no more than a canner load at one time. For easy peeling, place peaches in a wire basket or cheesecloth, dip in boiling water about a minute or so, then dip quickly in cold water, and skin. Cut peaches in half and pit. If desired, they may be sliced for packing.

To keep peaches from darkening while being prepared, drop them as soon as skinned and sliced into a solution of 1 gallon water, 2 tablespoons salt, and 2 tablespoons vinegar. Drain when ready to pre-cook.

PRE-COOKING PEACHES

If peaches are not juicy, extra juice may be needed in pre-cooking and packing the fruit. For this, set aside sound peaches too soft for canning. Crush and heat to boiling, then strain.

The next step is to pre-cook the fruit. When canning without sugar, cook first in its own juice until heated throughout but not soft. If fruit is not juicy, add just enough water to keep it from sticking to pan.

When canning with sugar, pre-cook in one of two ways:

1—If fruit is juicy, add sugar ½ cup to each quart of uncooked peaches—and heat to boiling.

2—For less juicy fruit, make a syrup of sugar and either water or juice extracted from extra peaches; boil together 5 minutes. A thin, moderately thin, or medium syrup may be made, depending on the sugar supply and family tastes. To make a thin syrup, use 1 cup sugar to 3 cups of juice or water; for a moderately thin syrup, use 1 cup sugar to 2 of liquid; and for a medium syrup, use a cup each of sugar and liquid. Then pre-cook fruit in syrup until it is heated throughout but not soft.

PACKING AND PROCESSING

While peaches are pre-cooking, heat clean jars and jar tops. But do not heat metal lids with sealing compound; instead dip them into boiling water just before putting on jar.

Pack hot peaches evenly into hot jars, leaving ½-inch head space. Cover with boiling liquid, still leaving ½-inch at top. It usually takes ¾ to 1 cup liquid to each jar. Taking care to have a good proportion of solid food and liquid, and leaving right headspace help to keep the peaches from losing liquid during canning. They won't be left high and dry, to turn dark.

Work out any air bubbles by running a knife blade down the jar side, and if necessary add more liquid. Wipe jar rim with a clean, damp cloth. One sticky bit can keep jar from sealing airtight. Put on jar top and adjust according to kind.

Next step is to process the jars of fruit in a boiling water bath canner. Have water boiling in canner and put each jar in as soon as filled and ready. When jars are all in canner, add more hot water if needed. It must cover jar tops by an inch or two. When the water boils hard, put canner lid on and begin counting time. Process peaches 20 minutes at sea level. Keep heat even under the canner; if temperature drops, jars may have liquid drawn out. Add more boiling hot water if needed, to keep jar tops well covered.

When the time is up, take out jars. Finish sealing if type of jar requires. Set out jars to cool, right side up, and away from drafts.

Broadway

By Dorothy Kilgallen

NEW YORK, July 17 — (Volcanic blonde Gertrude Niesen — equal parts pixie and temptress—is this season's musical comedy toast of the town. As star of "Follow the Girls," she inspired a famed gentleman of letters to publicly declare that he saw no reason why the title should not be altered to the singular. — D. K.

GERTRUDE NEISEN SAYS:

Gertrude Niesen

An ermine tail, rather than the traditional rabbit's foot, is my favorite good luck charm, and a Schenectady citizen I have never seen shares this sentimental secret with me. When the thrilling, noisy enthusiasm of a soldier audience made me completely forget my "I Wanna Get Married" lyrics recently at Camp Kilmer, N. J., the first letter I got teasing me about it came from a fellow in Philadelphia. All this, and heaven knows what else, too, reaches the reading public at large through Dorothy Kilgallen's Broadway beat-browsing.

She tells all about all of us who are part of Broadway and Hollywood, but how about her? La Kilgallen wields a knowing pen, never pulls her punches; meets the most interesting people. Each week she sets forth a series of $64 questions, for her readers, but the questions I imagine they would most enjoy asking is: "What is Dorothy Kilgallen like?"

ALTHOUGH SHE is fickle about hat styles and fanciful about perfumes, she is true to one hair style. Her favorite expression is, "Oh, Please." She smiles easily, never smokes, glyfs her friends funny nicknames. She loves dancing just about as much as I do, excels at the rumba, samba and waltz. When her little girl was born she enchanted intimates by phoning them two days later to impart the startling information that Jill Ellen had NAVY BLUE eyes. This sounded chic and exotic and altogether exclusive until some expert on infants imparted the information that practically ALL newborn babies have "navy blue" eyes.

She doesn't doodle. Instead she sings gay little snatches of popular songs when idling moments away. I don't think I have to worry about her vocalizing any more than she has to worry about my sudden spurt of journalistic ambition. Although fans sometimes call her "Dottie" practically none of her friends ever do. They call her Dorothy Mae, sometimes "Dee-Em" for short.

DURING HER girl reporter days she covered the Hauptmann trial at Flemington, N. J., holding her own ably among ranking newspaper authors assigned to cover the spectacular case.

At work, she is an earnest, tenacious, smart newspaperwoman. Away from the press-room and deadlines, she is pleasant, gay, gentle and very chic. I don't know why she ever considered it a column "line" that I wore ermine-cuffed slacks, or sequin studded culottes. Not when she herself made everybody at El Morocco choke on their respective refreshments by appearing in SHOCKING PINK stockings!!

IF DEY TAKE ME IN DA ARMY, I WANNA FIGHT DEM JAPS.... I WON'T NEED A GUN,—JES' MUH HANDS!....I'LL GRAB A JAP LIKE DIS,—LIFT HIM SQUIRMIN' IN DA AIR, AN' SNAP HIM LIKE PEANUT BRITTLE!
HERE, HOLD ON— NOT SO REALISTIC WITH YOUR IMAGINATION COME OUT IN THE YARD,—THERE'S AN OLD TREE STUMP YOU CAN DEMONSTRATE ON!

Star Shine

By Sidney Skolsky

HOLLYWOOD, July 17 — Maria Montez, imperious as a real queen, asked for a real lion for a scene in "Queen of the Nile."

"But, Maria, there's no lion in the script," said Director John Rawlins.

"That makes no difference," replied Maria firmly. "As a brave queen I should be seen petting a lion."

Maria Montez

The next day, when the scene was to be filmed, a real lion was on hand. The rehearsal started, and the lion, ogling Miss Montez, gave out with a big roar. Miss Montez, still queenly, lost no time getting off the set. From the safe confines of her dressing room, she summoned the director.

"On thinking it over," she said, "I guess the queen wouldn't have a full-grown lion running around. We keep the lion, but we put him in a cage. The queen will be brave some other way."

There is also talk of animals on the set of "The Unwritten Code." Ann Savage and Tom Neal are doing a party sequence, and Miss Savage and Neal are pretending to be very gay and having a great time, like you are supposed to have at parties.

"Okay. That's it," says Director Herman Rotsten. As Ann and Tom walk off the set, Ann yawns. "I'm sorry," she says. "I haven't been sleeping well lately. Insomnia, I guess."

"Well," says Tom Neal, "why don't you start counting sheep. That always does it for me."

"Sheep?" asks Ann. "There isn't one around Hollywood. The wolves have chased them all into the hills."

ON THE SET of "A Medal for Benny," Scenarist Jack Wagner is talking to Director Irving Pichel about the necessity for accuracy in accents in the film.

Dorthy Lamour, Arturo de Cordova, J. Carroll Naish, Mikhail Rasumny, Pepito and the others portray the residents of a paisano village in northern California.

They get ready to do the sequence. It is an outdoor scene.

"Tell her, Joe, tell her about our boat," says Naish.

"Joe," says Dorothy, "is buying that boat, was that Charlie's money?"

"You bet it was," says Charlie. "I tell you, next to my Benny for being smart, there's none like Joe."

"Look Charlie, I got a little something to tell you," says Arturo.

"Something about how smart you are, eh, Joe." calls Rasumny.

"Okay. That's it," says Director Pichel. He turns to Wagner, "How was that for accent?"

"Fine, Fine," answers Wagner. "Our American, Miss Lamour, was perfect. Naish was Mexican, right. Russian Rasumny was fine. All but De Cordova, who comes from Mexico. He sounds like an American trying to tell a story in Mexican dialect."

Boston After Dark

MONDAY MORNING MUSINGS: The mail indicates that Hollywood maintains an affectionate interest in little Manuel Ortiz, the Mexican bantamweight battler, who meets Willie Pep at Braves Field tonight . . . And although it may depress the odds a trifle, to the detriment of a few staunch friends Man-oo-el has made in Boston and who are determined to back their pet with cash of the realm, such experts as Brynne Foy and Pat O'Brien have contributed glowing and immoderate raves about Ortiz's capacity to swap punches with—as Pat puts it—"anyone within ten pounds of his weight" . . . It is truthful reporting, too, to make known that the town is in a minor ferment over tonight's battle of these little men, and it has been many months—if not years—since such a statement could withstand investigation.

JOE COTTEN, one of the newer film luminaries, made a hasty week-end visit to Boston . . . He is affable and nice . . . When "Since You Went Away" the next Cotten picture is released, a noticeable change in the actor's status will take place . . . Ice-viewers of that picture say that Joe, who used to play in stock at the Copley Theater, reaches full stardom . . . It will be different then . . . Actor Cotten will not occupy what they call the "royal box" of the Statler's Terrace Room and be as unobserved as he was the other night . . . It was probably a pleasure to both Mr. Cotten and his wife to get a respite from autograph hounds . . . But the fact is that less than a handful of persons recognized the man who is the "new Walter Pigeon," as some critics are having it.

ONCE OVER LIGHTLY: A waiter at the Copley Plaza Grill is offered the following explanation of the roars of laughter which exploded in his face Saturday night, and which left the poor chap baffled and confused . . . Hugh Fontaine, the big man of Brookmeade Farm, asked the waiter if he would be so good as to find out what time "the Senator gets in" . . . "Which Senator, sir?" the waiter inquired . . . Mr. Fontaine was speaking of the train.

SO MANY BOSTONIANS remember Tommy McArdle, the little generalissimo of the famous Theatrical Club of the pre-Roosevelt era, that Tommy's grief should be passed along to them that they can offer condolences . . . On June 19, Tommy's son, Pfc James J. McArdle would have been 21 years old . . . But on that day news came from the War Department that the young man had been killed in action at Saipan . . . A funeral mass was said today at St. Columbkill's Church in Brighton . . . The McArdle family had 100 per cent representation in the fighting forces . . . Five of the boys are in uniform, and Tommy's daughter is a WAVE.

HARKEN TO Paul Zara's playing of "Besame Mucho" . . . Lt. Joe Manley of Cambridge, son of Danny Manley, former New England lightweight champ, has been discharged from the Army with a knee injury after nearly three years of service . . . Margery Sharp's new best-seller "Cluny Brown," an uproariously funny effort, will be the Book of the Month selection for Sept. . . . It will be released Aug. 28, and Little, Brown and Co. is publishing.

Through the Binoculars

By HORACE WADE

When Johnny-Jump-Up, the horse of your choice, plays peek-a-boo with the eighth pole this week and hangs a solar-plexus to your pocketbook, you may console yourself with the knowledge that it's all in the interests of sweet charity.

For the next six days the beat of thoroughbred hoofs will drum a steady torrent of gold into the coffers of the National War Fund and affiliated war charities as the Eastern Racing Association turns over its huge seaside course to the war fund and reserves all net profits for these worthy causes.

In addition to its charitable aspect, the week is also the richest in purse money and thrills in the ten-year history of Suffolk Downs. Featuring the program are two of the most important handicaps of the season, the $50,000 Massachusetts Handicap to be decided Wednesday afternoon and the $25,000 Mayflower Stakes which features Saturday's get-away program.

At all race tracks the final week of racing is ever the most profitable, and with this knowledge Gordon B. Hanlon, president of the Eastern Racing Association has given the six days to the National War Fund. It is expected that the week will net approximately $200,000, the receipts to be divided among the National War Fund, the Greater Boston United War Fund, the Greater Boston Metropolitan Chapter of the American Red Cross and Associated War Charities. Also sharing in the receipts will be the Record-American-Advertiser Disabled Veterans' Fund.

It is now increasingly apparent that Wednesday's Massachusetts Handicap will attract between nine and 11 starters to the post, with Incoming and Some Chance the only doubtful members of the field. Those sure to put their best foot forward in quest of the "fifty grand" are First Fiddle, Four Freedoms, Alquest, Aletern, Alex Barth, Castleman, Great Rush, Ramillies and Coronal. Incoming will be in the overnight band, rooting heftily for mud while Some Chance, with not too much racing under his belt, may not feel quite up to such a strenuous task.

With or without these last two, the mile and a furlong looms as one of the best runnings of a race which has always been productive of thrills, chills and champions. To date none but a great horse has ever won the Massachusetts. This high standard is certain to be maintained on Wednesday.

Interest is also focussed on the possibility of brand new mutuel marks being written into the records that afternoon. Local fandom, fully aware that all net profits will swell the National War Fund, are expected to buck the "iron men" with such increasing vigor that the track mark of $1,401,760 may be endangered.

It will betray no confidences to reveal here that Eastern Racing officials are somewhat on the horns of a dilemma as regards next Saturday's Mayflower Stakes. This $25,000 two-year-old classic is drawing high-class juveniles like flies to molasses, and the Puett starting gate will be taxed to capacity for that running, with an overflow encroaching on the fringe of the track.

If it were not Charity Week the race would be divided into two sections, but that entails the posting of another $25,000 purse which would cut into the net distributions. It's something that must be determined between now and closing day.

At least everything adds up to a week of the finest sport, with military commanders in the Greater Boston area actively supporting the six days of racing. Monday will be Army Day and a military 35-piece band, and a detachment of 150 soldiers and WACs will parade down the paddock lane to raise the national emblem in the infield.

The United States Marines from the Charlestown Navy Yard barracks, together with their Marine band, will take over on Tuesday,

Pep Favored 10 to 7 Over Rugged Ortiz

By JACK CONWAY

Willie Pep, one of the most brilliant featherweights in the history of the ring, and Manuel Ortiz, heavy-hitting Mexican, are eagerly waiting for the sound of the gong which will send them into action in a ten-round bout at Braves Field tonight under the direction of the Callahan A. C.

The Disabled Veterans Fund of the American-Record-Sunday Advertiser will receive 10 per cent of the gross receipts.

Pep rules a 10 to 7 favorite in the betting in view of his remarkable ring record which includes 74 victories out of 75 starts. His latest triumph was scored over Willie Joyce of Gary, Ind., at Chicago. Joyce, a lightweight, was beaten in seven of 10 rounds.

ORTIZ'S CHANCE FOR K. O.

If there is a knockout scored tonight, Ortiz will be the one to land the big smash. Pep is a boxer, while Ortiz punches with terrific power.

"Ortiz has a chance to knock Pep out," Jack Dempsey told me in New York over the week-end. "Ortiz hits hard with either hand. I have seen him in action in California rings. He hits hard enough to knock out any featherweight in the world.

"Pep is a good boxer. He is fast and hits from all angles. Pep, however, has not as much power in his blows as Ortiz."

Com. Dempsey just returned from a war bond tour that took him to the Coast. He looked in excellent condition and is elated over the success of our armed forces everywhere.

It is natural Dempsey should like an aggressive, fast puncher like Ortiz. When champion, Dempsey liked to trade blows with an opponent.

In his bout with Larry Bolvin Ortiz showed signs of his great hitting ability. When the Mexican caught up with Bolvin in the ninth round, he dropped him to the canvas with a savage right hand punch to the jaw.

The Boxing Commission will assign some of its best officials to tonight's bout. All Ortiz and Pep ask for is a fair deal.

JACOBS WANTS NEXT BOUT

The weight for the bout was set at 127 pounds so that Pep's title will not be at stake. The weight for the featherweight class is 126 pounds.

Ortiz and Pep both can make this weight. If Ortiz wins from Pep, he is certain to get a championship bout.

Mike Jacobs of the 20th Century Club of New York will be bidding for the return tussle between Ortiz and Pep if the Mexican wins.

Eddie Mack has the inside track for this bout on account of his friendship with Tommy Farmer, manager of Ortiz. This is the angle that enabled Mack to get the Battle of Champions for Boston.

This is one of the outstanding ring conflicts of the year, and Boston is fortunate to have it. It is the first time in the history of this city that two world's champions have ever met here.

The ring and seating set up at Braves Field are perfect for the bout. The ticket sale is $1.20, $2, $3.60, $5 and $6. Tickets may be purchased at the Callahan A. C. office, No. 44 School st. and at Braves Field.

WILLIE PEP MEETS MANUEL ORTIZ—As they confer with Boxing Commr. Sam Smith these two lightning-like champions who meet tonight at Braves Field appear smiling and affable. After that first bell around 10 p. m. watch those facial expressions change.

This Is It!

Jean Barriere, Montreal, Que. vs. Henry Briere, Worcester, 6 rounds.

Johnny Dougwillow, Lynn vs. Leon Anthony, New York, 6 rounds.

Frankie Ross, Boston vs. Tom Collins, New Haven, Ct., 6 rounds.

Jimmy Mulligan, Lowell vs. Earl Lowman, Washington, 6 rounds.

Willie Pep, Hartford, Ct. vs. Manuel Ortiz, El Centro, Cal., 10 rounds.

Dilboy Comes Up With Another Show

Continuing its lively boxing programs, the George Dilboy Post, VFW, will stage the third in its series of amateur fistic festivals under the floodlights of Dilboy Field, Somerville, Wednesday night, July 26.

As in the two previous shows, competition will be in the 118, 126, 138, 147, 160, 175 and heavyweight classes. Entries may be filed with Fred Russo, 371 Summer st., Somerville.

Small Boats Have Call in Yacht Game

By JOHN AHERN

It becomes more apparent with the passing of each day that New England is building up to one of its greatest yachting seasons since those years following the depression when "little boat racing" grew from a fad to reality.

Small boats like Winaboats, Radios, Hustlers, Knockabouts and Yankee Dories which have been up in cradles since the start of the war are now being moved out in the sunlight and the finishing touches being applied before going over into the bays.

At Marblehead more Brutals have appeared at moorings although they haven't raced so far; the long absent T's are being manned again and the Triangles, the most numerous class around Eastern Point in years gone by, crossed the Corinthian line Saturday afternoon.

With the absence of an Interclub in Boston Bay over the week-end, racing of sizable fleets was off but each club staged its regular Sunday regatta and the entire harbor was saw-toothed with billowing white canvas.

Squantum was again the leader in numbers as the entire squadron in three classes was out in what at first was a very light southerly but later whipped up to a good hull down southwester that caused a few capsizals and gave all hands a rough, wet ride. The Wollaston and Merrymount flotillas augmented that from Squantum and Quincy Bay resembled a Hollywood version of a huge marine parade.

Last Chance

Tickets for the Battle of Champions between Willie Pep and Manuel Ortiz at Callahan A. C. show at Braves Field tonight may be secured at 44 School st., Boston, telephone Lafayette 6197 or Lafayette 6198.

The prices of the tickets are $1.30, $2, $3.60 and $6.

Because the Disabled Veterans' Fund of the American-Record-Sunday Advertiser is receiving 10 per cent of the gross receipts, there will not be any complimentary tickets for the show.

Javery's Flop One Of Local Mysteries

By BILL GRIMES

Throughout the baseball season fans are wondering what is the matter with Al Javery.

At the start of the season "Jave" was rated with the top-notcher hurlers of the National League. But to date he has turned in only three victories and has been charged with thirteen defeats.

Early in the campaign, Javery bumped into some very tough breaks. In the opening game of the season, he had the Giants beaten for seven innings but with two on and two down "Butch" Nieman crashed into the wall after making a catch which would have taken the Braves out of the round, dropped the ball and Javery was beaten, 2 to 1.

Javery was unable to shake off the jinx which picked on him on the opening day. He hurled grand ball for weeks but couldn't win. When he was at top form, the Braves didn't get him any runs. In all probability, Javery's toughest defeat was the 15-inning game with the Phillies, which Ron Northy broke up with a home run.

For almost a month Javery has had a sore wrist. He isn't a softie and therefore didn't tell anyone about his injury. Due to his lame wrist, Javery hasn't been able to control his pitches. He can't put the ball where he wants it to go and as a result he has been getting his ears pinned back of late.

On his showing a year ago, Javery should have been a consistent winner for the Braves, especially in view of fact that the war time opposition should be a push over for him. But, because of Javery's inability to contribute his quota of victories, the Braves are holding up the National League.

Dots and Dashes

It looks as though "Whitey" Wietelmann will be out of the Cubs' series, which starts on Wednesday . . . Although he didn't break any bones in his finger, it will be four or five days before he will be able to throw.

Warren Huston made a very fine play in the first inning on Goody Rosen's bunt . . . But, the Newton High teacher didn't look so well when he rounded second base with the play right in front of him on Connie Ryan's second hit in the opening inning and was trapped.

After he had had his hand dressed by Dr. Eddie O'Brien, "Whitey" Wietelmann watched the twin bill from the press coop . . . Bill Conroy and Oscar Judd, of the Red Sox spent Saturday and yesterday afternoon at Braves Field . . . The Braves were lucky to get out of the 5th without being scored on . . . With two on, Dee Phillips was slow getting over to the bag when Jack Bolling hit one back at Jim Tobin, and missed the sack . . . Then, Umpire George Magerkurth ruled that Bolling beat the throw to first and the sacks were filled . . . However, Lou Olmo hit into an inning ending double play . . . Ralph Branca, who, although he won nine games for Olean of the Pony League last season, pitched for N. Y. U. this spring, replaced Hal Gregg in the 5th.

Augie Galan came up with his seventh home run in the 6th, with Goody Rosen aboard . . . And, with that circuit drive went Jim Tobin's chances of chalking up another shut out . . . For the second time in a row, Tom Warren came through with a hit as a pinch hitter . . . He's a pitcher, obtained recently from the Montreal Royals.

Linehan Club Plays Caseys

Still very much in the running Bill Benson's Linehan Club from South Boston travels to the Dorchester Town Field tonight to tangle with defending champion, Casey Club in the feature game of the Park League's after dinner baseball round-robin.

The Linehans have been a consistent fourth since early in the season and at the present writing are only a game and a half behind the powerful Watertown Arsenal.

Despite its power and the ease in which the Caseys have beaten the other teams in the circuit at times this year, the Dorchester club has yet to ring up its first victory over the Southie aggregation and while Caseys are out to break the jinx, the Linehans will strive to extend their streak.

In the other games scheduled for tonight Lawley's Shipyard meets West Roxbury A. A. at Billings Field and Hicks Engineering is pitted against Watertown Arsenal.

Volo Song's Career Over

ELKHORN, Wis., July 17 (AP)—Volo Song, world champion trotting stallion, is through as a competitor, his career cut short by a broken leg suffered yesterday in a $400 race, but Veterinarians and trainer Harry Fitzpatrick hoped to save hi mfor breeding purposes.

Winner of the $50,000 Hambletonian classic for 3-year-old trotters at Goshen, N. Y., last August, the handsome brown son of Volomite had, less than a week before, set a world record for trotting stallions of 1:57¾ at Cleveland.

Horsemen hailed him as the successor to the renowned trotting gelding, Greyhound, whose winning race record of 1:57¼ was set in 1936. Purchased last fall oy E. J. Baker of St. Charles, Ill., the price tag on Volo was $30,000.

Tears streaming down his face, Fitzpatrick heard the veterinarians' verdict. It was, they said, a fractured bone in the ankle of the left fore leg. The bone might knit properly if placed in a cast. Time alone would tell.

"We'll retire him to stud if we can," said Fitzpatrick after conferring with the owner of Volo Song.

"It was one of those things which happen in racing; no explanation for it," Fitzpatrick continued. "There was no misstep. Volo Song was trotting good; the track was right."

Fitzpatrick was in the sulky. The field had just straightened out for the home stretch, on the half-mile track. Volo Song, trotting easily just behind the speedy mare, Mary M., suddenly reared, then pulled up short and hobbled painfully to the barns on three legs.

Crack Southpaw Is Headed for Sox

By FRED HOEY

A weary Red Sox team is wending, and probably beefing, its way west with all the time in the world to review and reflect on their baseball sins in the recently concluded Yankee series in which they dropped four out of the five games.

The Sox are now in third place, two games behind the Yankees and four games behind the pace-making St. Louis Browns. They open a 16-game tour against the White Sox in Chicago Wednesday.

The Red Sox flopped badly against the Yankees in every department, pitching, hitting and defense. Hardly a general condition to inspire Boston pennant hopes.

It begins to look as though the Sacramento baseball moguls believe the major league future hangs in balance as they decide what disposition they are going to make of southpaw pitcher, Clem Dreisewerd. So much secrecy surrounds the proposed sale to some certain unnamed major league club that one wonders whether the malarkey isn't being applied a bit too copiously.

Here are some facts that may be worth pondering. The Red Sox as they stand today, are without a southpaw pitcher. Tom Judd is on the shelf with a bad arm. Joe Cronin already has admitted to baseball writers that Tom might be ready by Labor Day. Vic Johnson, the other southpaw, has been sent down river to the Louisville farm.

Earl Sheely, the Sacramento manager, who has been issuing those mystifying statements about the sale of Dreisewerd to an unnamed major league club, was once a Red Sox scout on the West Coast. Maybe he still is.

So it looks as though necessity is the mother of a creation of a new pitcher for the Boston Red Sox by the name of Clem Dreisewerd.

We wouldn't know how good the Los Angeles team of the current season is but yesterday it licked Sacramento and Clem Dreisewerd 3 to 1 in the Pacific Coast League game. The Angeles gathered eight hits off Clem, too.

The Red Sox have lost Catcher Hal Wagner for a period owing to his plate collision with Oscar Grimes in the Yankee series. This places the burden of catching on the sturdy shoulders of plucky little Roy Partee, unless Bill Conroy's thumb heals so that he can help out.

Of course Mike Ryba can do a capable chore behind the bat. Mike certainly is a valuable bird to have around. Then, too, Jimmy Peacock, let out to Phils, might be used in the present emergency. But this is a second guess.

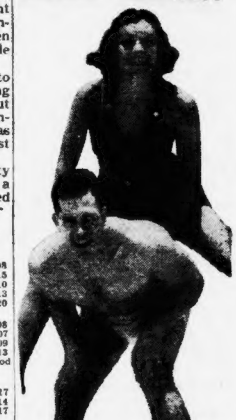
JOHN WARNER says:
"SUMMER SUN CAUSES BALDNESS"



Over exposure to hot Summer sun and salt water can cause serious scalp disorders which may in turn lead to baldness. Yet all Summer sports can be enjoyed and with proper precautions the scalp can be kept healthy. Thousands of men have saved and improved their hair through treatment by John E. Warner and Associates.

There is no charge or obligation for a private consultation at the Warner offices. If your case is accepted for treatment you can be reasonably sure of saving and improving your hair.

Fees for treatment are very moderate and are paid as the treatments are taken, not in advance. There is a separate department for women.

Draft Order Forces 3 Nats to Resign

WASHINGTON, July 17 (AP)—The Washington ball club, a bi-lingual outfit all season, was back on an English-speaking basis today. Of some 15 Latin-Americans who turned up at the training camp last spring, only two remained—and they both converse in "Americano."

Two of the team's mainstays, Infielder Gilberto Torres and Outfielder Roberto Ortiz, and a substitute catcher, Fermin Guerra, quit the club yesterday after being told by National Selective Service officials to register for the military draft or leave the country.

Torres, Ortiz and Guerra—whose departure made Washington's already feeble pennant hopes blacker than the darkest night—elected to return to their Cuban homes and subject themselves to army calls there.

A fourth Cuban, rookie Infielder Pedro Gomez, decided to stick with the club and register in this country. Gomez and Alejandro Carrasquel veteran relief pitcher from Venezuela, are the only Latins left on the squad. Carrasquel wasn't involved in the draft directives.

The Cuban players came here last arch under three-month visas issued by the State Department. The permits later were extended to six months. But a few days ago selective service decided the players were "resident aliens" and must register for the draft within 10 days or leave.

Browns Team to Beat In American League

By Associated Press

The St. Louis Browns, in route home today from their second eastern road trip, still are perched at the top of the standings, giving every indication they are the team to beat for the American League flag.

They wound up their stay abroad by capturing both games of a double-header from the Cleveland Indians, 8-7 and 2-1, before 32,553, with both games going 12 innings. The double win gave the Browns a record of 10 wins and 10 losses on their trip, after having dropped four of their first six games.

The showing is a great improvement over their first road trip, which brought them only six victories against 12 defeats.

The sweep increased the Browns' first place lead over the New York Yankees to two full games. Second Baseman Don Gutteridge featured in both victories.

He scored the winning runs in the 12th innings of each game, tallying in the opener on George McQuinn's single and scoring in the nightcap when Milt Byrnes followed his lead-off triple with a long fly.

KRAMER WINS MEET

Jack Kramer went the distance in the finale to register his ninth victory, his first since June 13.

Four home runs by Don Savage, Johnny Lindell, George Stirnweiss and Herschel Martin gave the New York Yankees a 7-1 victory over the Boston Red Sox in the opener of a scheduled twin-bill before 41,171. A thundershower prevented the team from playing the second game. The victory gave the Yankees the series, four games to one.

Dizzy Trout won his second game in four days and his 12th of the season as Detroit and the Chicago White Sox divided their double header, the White Sox winning the first 7-2 and the Tigers taking the second 7-3.

The Chicago Cubs and the Pittsburgh Pirates exchanged 1-0 shutouts, with Hank Wyse of the Cubs gaining the nod over Truett (Rip) Sewell in the opener, and Max Butcher of the Pirates shading Claude Passeau in the second, before 40,920 at Wrigley Field.

CUBS RED HOT

A trio of singles by Bill Nicholson, Andy Pafko and Don Johnson in the second inning of the opener gave the Cubs their 14th victory in 20 games. Butcher, besides holding the Cubs to two hits in the finale, scored the Pirates' lone run on his eighth-inning double and Pete Coscarart's single.

The league-leading St. Louis Cardinals and the Cincinnati Reds split their double-header. The Cards won their opener, 4-2. The Reds took the nightcap, 3-2, on Harry Brecheens' balk in the eighth inning, allowing Eddie Miller to score the deciding run. Sylvester (Blix) Donnelly won his first major league kame in the opener.

Washington won two games from the Philadelphia Athletics, Johnny Lindell, George Stirnweiss and Mickey Haefner gaining the decisions. George Case stole a base in each game to raise his league-leading total to 26.

BRAVES, DODGERS SPLIT

Brooklyn ended its biggest losing streak in history by winning the second game, 8-5, from the Boston Braves, after having dropped its 15th straight in losing the opener, 8-4. Curt Davis gained the distinction of ending the Dodgers' slump with route-going seven-hit performance.

The New York Giants dropped the first game to the Philadelphia Phillies, 6-2. They were leading, 6-3, after eight innings of the nightcap, when the game was halted by the Pennsylvania 6:55 p. m. curfew law. This game will be completed at a later date.
